ROBERT J. KING, Esq., O'Connell-street.

BANKERS:
The Bank of New South Wales.
BROKERS:
Messrs. Chatfield and Mackenzie.

This Company is proposed to be formed for the purpose of working more effectively than has been found practicable by private hands, Collieries on a large area of Coal Land, at Hexham, near Newcastle. The estate consists of 1340 Acres of Freehold Land (held under Torrens' Act), and is situate on the Great Northern Railway, which intersects it, and with which the collieries are connected by a private branch line of one and a quarter mile in extent. The coal seams have already been opened up by two large permanent working shafts, and all requisite appliances being on the ground, the collieries may in a short time be made ready for full operation. The present proprietors have expended a very large amount in the acquisition and proving of the estate, and upon their railway and other works, machinery, &c., &c., and having now occasion to seek further capital for prosecuting their undertaking, and for the discharge of outstanding engagements representing part of such outlay, they offer their property to the public for that purpose.
As will be seen from the report of Mr. Mackenzie, two seams of coal, 7 feet 8 inches and 8 feet 10 inches thick, yielding 5 feet and 5 feet 11 inches of clean coal, exclusive of bands, have been proved by very numerous trial shafts over areas of 300 acres and 600 acres respectively; and another large seam, which is believed to cover a still larger portion of the estate, has been reached by boring, and in two places also by shafts. The two proved seams are estimated to yield not less than 9,000,000 tons of coal, exclusive of pillars. Both working shafts have been substantially timbered, and are upon the proved seams of coal, at depths of 70 feet and 100 feet respectively. In No. 1 Pit the seam has been explored and opened up by headings and bords for nearly three hundred yards, and very substantial pit and screen appliances are provided. About 4000 tons of coal have already been taken out. There is at that pit a 16-inch cylinder steam-engine set up, with 9-inch double-action pumps and winding-gear, &c., &c., complete. The boiler is defective, but a new one is the the ground ready to be set. No. 2 pit is provided with a 21-inch cylinder engine with similar pumps, hauling-gear, &c., &c., complete, but this machinery has not yet been set up.
A railway platform has been erected, and a substantial branch railway has been formed and laid at a cost of £10,000, and is now in full working order, extending one and a quarter mile into the estate, connecting No. 1 pit with the Government railway. The existing appliances are sufficient for a weekly output of 2000 tons of coal. The Government locomotives convey the coal from the pits to Newcastle at 1s 3d per ton. About 300 acres of the coal lands are chargeable with a royalty of 6d. per ton out of the profits of the coal which underlies them, if worked; but this charge can at any time be compounded by a cash payment.
The coal produced from this property has been tested by the Australasian Steam Navigation Company, the Rev. W. B. Clarke, and numerous others, with most flattering results. Copies of their reports may be obtained at the office of the brokers.
The terms proposed for the formation of the Company are that the entire property above described shall be made over upon condition that 10,000 paid up shares shall be reserved to the proprietors and 3000 to the provisional committee, and that out of the remaining 37,000 the sum of £10,000 be applied to the discharge of a portion of the outstanding engagements of the original proprietors, leaving amount of £27,000 to the credit of the Company.
The expenses of floating, &c., to be borne by the Company.
Several of the provisional committee (accompanied by a skilled mining engineer and valuator) have carefully inspected the property, and active preparations have already been made to place it in a workable condition. Intending shareholders, therefore, will very shortly have an opportunity of inspecting the coal seams, &c., for themselves. A quantity of coal will be mined, and raised to the pits' mouth for trial, and a large block placed on view at the Sydney Exchange. The Government Inspector of Coal-fields also has been good enough to signify his willingness to afford any additional information to that contained in his report.
Applications for shares, accompanied by the deposit, to be made to the Brokers, from whom forms can be obtained, and as soon as 20,000 shares have been applied for, the Company will be deemed formed, and a meeting convened to appoint directors, &c. The proceeds of these 20,000 shares will be applied to working expenses; payment of the amount due to the proprietors will be postponed until sufficient of the remaining shares have been allotted.
Plans and photographic views of the property, reports, &c., may be seen at the Offices of the Brokers.

DIAMOND OIL,
112 and over FIRE TEST,
and guaranteed NON-EXPLOSIVE.
We call your attention to this oil, which we recommend for families, being as white as pure spring water, and perfectly free from smoke, smell, or odour issuing from common oils, and burns longer without trimming or crusting the wick than any other.
It is extensively used in Europe (under the brand of Oleophene), where it commands a higher price than any other. The same can unhesitatingly be said of this, the home market, where it has been largely used for mixing with other oils of inferior quality, and by well-known competitive Packers, for the purpose of establishing their brands.
Our DIAMOND BRAND is patented as a Trade Mark, and we, therefore, caution dealers against using the same cases for repacking inferior oils. We repeat our guarantee as to the quality, and we challenge comparison with any other oil, as we know the Diamond to be the best.

FOR PRIVATE SALE, fine ESTATE, and good FAMILY RESIDENCE, Parramatta River, opposite Newington College; 156 acres of land fenced and subdivided into garden and orchard; cultivation, grazing, and bush paddocks; there is a large garden tastefully laid out, containing a great number of fine large camellia bushes. The orchard is about 25 acres, comprising 300 good orange-trees just come to bearing; also a large number of choice pears, apples, peach and plum trees. Forty acres of cultivation land subdivided into three paddocks; the grazing ground, all cleared, is in three portions—9 acres, 12 acres, 24 acres respectively; the bush-land, also available as grazing land, is 40 acres in extent, and there are about 11 acres of flat land at the south-east corner of the property caused by a bend in the river, and would make a fine spot for oyster-beds. The homestead is situated on the top of a gentle slope about five hundred yards from the boat wharf, which is built of good square stone, and is about 150 feet in length, extending out to deep water. The house is built of stone, and has a wide flagged verandah all round, and contains 7 rooms, with wide hall, kitchen, laundry, servants' room, bathroom, cellar, and pantry. There is a fine brick stable and coach-house, cart, and work sheds, barn, and packing room. There are two detached garden Cottages, one close to the wharf. The homestead has been put in good order, and the whole re-painted and repaired. The facility of access by a road or steamers, which pass to and from Sydney every hour of the day, must recommend this property as a desirable family residence. The locality is exceedingly healthy; the house commands a magnificent view of the river and surrounding country. For cultivation or grazing the soil is good, and nearly every acre could be made available. The water supply is good—never failing. Terms easy. A man will be in attendance, with boat, to take intending purchasers from the steamers, and show the property. For cards to view and particulars, apply to T. W. BOWDEN, 154, Pitt-street, where plan of the property can be seen; or to J. Y. MILLS, Parramatta.

A FOUR-ROOMED brick COTTAGE for SALE, in Flora-street, Macdonald Town. Inquire on the premises. Mr. Smith.

FOR SALE, at Enfield, 12-acre FARM, beautifully situated. Apply at the Woodcutters' Arms Hotel, Enfield.

The land has been subdivided into allotments, and has a Torrens Act title. The increasing value of land in good situations in Balmain, and the fact that there are now few unoccupied sites so near to Sydney which have such a commanding view of the city and harbour, will ensure a large profit to the purchaser when sold in the subdivisions proposed. For terms and particulars, apply to R. NOTT, 305, George-street.

MESSRS. J. M. CROSBY AND CO., CHEMISTS, Scarborough, writes as follows:—
"9th September, 1872.
"James Hudson, Burr Bank, Scarborough, having suffered eight years from scurvy, ulcerated ankle, and abscess, and having taken six bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture, is perfectly cured. He had spent pounds in doctors and chemists' medicines previously, and he is anxious that the properties of such a valuable medicine should be more known."

CURES OF SORES OF FOUR YEARS' STANDING.
"1, Cross-street, Ryde, Isle of Wright,
"16th November, 1872.
"Dear Sir,—My wife has taken nine bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture. When she commenced, half of her face and eyebrows were covered with sores, brought on by fright about four years ago. She has been under the treatment of six different doctors, and all of no good, but since taking your Blood Mixture, all the sores are gone. I am thankful that I heard of your medicine, and only wish I had years before.
"I am, sir, your obedient servant.
"R. MALLARD."

CURE OF SCROFULOUS SORES.
"Trinity-street, Smethwick, near Birmingham,
"30th July, 1872.
"Mr. Clarke.—Sir,—My husband, I am glad to say, is quite cured, and is now able to attend to his business. His complaint was scrofulous sores; and he had been bad about eight years. He went to several doctors, and spent many pounds in trying different remedies, but still grew worse, and had kept his bed for the last two years, except a few hours at intervals. The discharge from the sores made him so weak, every one thought him in a consumption. We tried to get him in several institutions, but they would not admit him, as I believe they thought him past cure. The sores extended nearly all over his back and chest. It took one hour each day to dress the wounds, and the pain almost took his reason away. Nothing did him any good until we heard of your Blood Mixture. My husband is well known here; he is a house-agent and collector. The people are quite astonished, and it has induced many to try the Mixture. You are at liberty to make any use of this you please. Accept our grateful thanks.—I am, very respectfully,
"JANE MOWLAM."

CURE OF DREADFUL SKIN DISEASE.
"2, Albert-place, Southend, Essex.
"December, 1872.
"Dear Sir,—I write to express my sincere thanks to you, thanking God at the same time, for I am indeed greatly indebted to Him and also to you. I wrote some time ago for a case of your world-famed Blood Mixture, and it—the one case—has thoroughly, I believe cured me of a dreadful skin disease which I had for three or four years. I have waited some weeks since I finished the Mixture, but I do not see the least symptoms of the disease returning. It has cost me pounds and pounds, as I have been to several physicians in London, and two hospitals, and one single case of your medicine has completely cured me. I have recommended it to a friend who has had a skin disease, of a different nature to mine, for several years, and he is getting on very nicely indeed. Please receive my best heartfelt thanks, as I remain, yours truly,
"JOHN COUSINS."

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF SKIN DISEASES
Mrs. Newcomb, Friesthorpe, near Market Rasen.
14th January, 1871.
"Cured of a very bad skin disease, after having spent over £100 in medical advice in the neighbourhood."

SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humours and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed Medicine.

IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL.
Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is sold in bottles, 2s 3d each, and in cases containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are, therefore, requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EEs.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.

CA. SA. MOTIONS.
Several ca. sa. motions were heard and disposed of.
BUSH AND WIFE V. FENTON.
This was an application made for a new trial, by Mr. Hellyer, on behalf of the defendant. Mr. Foster, instructed by Mr. Yarnton, opposed the application. His Honor granted a new trial, the costs of the previous trial and the costs of this application to abide the result.
RENNY V. THE MAYOR OF SYDNEY AND OTHERS.
Action for work and labour done. Plaintiff was a stonemason, and sued to recover for work he had done for the Corporation of Sydney, under contract. Defendants paid £2 into Court as full satisfaction of plaintiff's claim, and alleged that the remainder of the work done was in excess of that which plaintiff was authorised to do. It was not denied that plaintiff had done the work; but Mr. Bradridge, the City Building Surveyor, deposed that he gave instructions to plaintiff what to do, and that the cost of the work should not exceed £2. Verdict for defendants. Mr. Gannon for plaintiff, Mr. R. Driver for defendants.
LAUNDRY V. TEAR.
Action for goods sold and delivered. Amount claimed, £16 19s. Defendant pleaded payment of the amount, and averred that some of her receipts had been stolen from her in a robbery that took place on her premises some five years ago, while others she had destroyed, under the impression that the whole affair was done and settled long ago. Plaintiff was nonsuited. Mr. Ashdown (for Mr. Dawson) for plaintiff, Mr. Gannon for defendant.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.
FRIDAY.
BEFORE the Police Magistrate, with Messrs. Pinhey, Jolly, S. Goold, Reading, Hunt, G. Hill, Oatley, Palmer, Murphy, Fowler, and Fielder.
Five persons were fined for drunkenness, and other five were admonished and discharged.
George Hanlon, charged with having wilfully broken some glass, the property of Thomas Gave, pleaded guilty, and was ordered to pay 2s. damages, or to be imprisoned one day.
Mary Cooke was charged with larceny. Peter Dale, seaman, deposed that last evening he was at prisoner's house in Kent-street, became drunk, lay down, and fell asleep; when he went there he had £3 10s. in gold and about 5s. in silver; when he awoke he missed his money; when he lay down prisoner sat on the sofa beside him; the only other person in the room was a shipmate of his. By Mr. Carroll: There was one other woman beside prisoner in the house; it is a brothel; cannot say who came in or went out while he was asleep. William Smith, the shipmate referred to by prosecutor, deposed that he saw prisoner take money from Dale's pocket as he lay asleep; he told her to restore it; and she did; about half an hour afterward, having sent a girl for some beer, he was waiting for her outside, when prisoner came out and went away; there was no person but her in the house with Dale. Committed for trial at the Quarter Sessions.
David Ewer was charged with having assaulted James Good, a bailiff, in the execution of his duty. Prosecutor deposed that he was employed by Edward Carter to distrain for rent upon the goods of Nels Jacobsen, in a house situated in Little Macquarie-street; about 3 o'clock in the morning of the 11th, as he lay on a couch in a back room, the defendant and two other men entered the room, carried him out, and threw him in the street; did not see Jacobsen there; knew defendant as an inmate of Jacobsen's house, but whether he is a lodger or a servant cannot say. By Mr. Pigott: Was not drunk; was never drunk in his life. For the defence Jacobsen was called, but he was not present at the time of the assault. Mr. Pigott addressed the Bench for the defendant. Guilty: to pay a penalty of 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days.
On Wednesday last, George Reeves, alias Tarbuck, was brought before the Bench by sergeant Larkins, charged with larceny. Richard M'Coy, of M'Coy, Brothers, George-street South, deposed that he does not know prisoner; between 7 and 8 last evening (Tuesday, the 14th), he received information which led him to follow two men from George-street along Goulburn-street into Sussex-street, where he overtook the hindermost, and took from him one boot—one of two pairs which had been stolen; he detained him, and brought him back as far as the corner of Goulburn-street, where he was surrounded by a crowd of roughs, who, armed with stones and other missiles, threatened to split his head unless he let the man go; called upon Mr. Kelly, a publican, to assist him, who said that he knew both this man and the other, and could so describe them that the police could soon find them, advising him for these reasons to release the man; witness did so; cannot say that the prisoner is the man who ran ahead of the man witness overtook and released; the boots were of the value of 18s. 6d and 10s. 6d., and the property of M'Coy, Brothers, witness being one of the firm. William Kelly, of Goulburn-street, publican, deposed that between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening named, prisoner and a man named Gallagher came into his house and had drinks; about ten minutes afterwards saw prisoner running along Sussex-street, followed by Gallagher, until prosecutor overtook him (Gallagher); knowing both men, and believing that either could be found by the police whenever wanted, advised M'Coy to release Gallagher. The prisoner was then remanded until to-day. Charles Kemp deposed that he saw the prisoner snatch two pairs of boots from M'Coy's exhibit, and hand them to another man; one pair was chopped or thrown away in the escape, which he handed to M'Coy; the other man has not been apprehended. Prisoner was sentenced to be imprisoned three months.
On the summons paper were thirteen cases, two of which were not prosecuted. James Marland and Edward Casey were each fined 10s. for keeping his public-house open for the sale of liquor on Sunday. Four persons were fined 5s. each for driving vehicles in St. Peters Municipality after sunset, unprovided with lights. William Black was fined 10s. for using words calculated to cause a breach of the peace. Michael Brady, Michael Dalley, and Martin Connell were each fined 40s. for using obscene language. THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.
SIR,—I have just seen the Herald of yesterday, in which there is a letter from the Solicitor-General, written with the apparent intention of contradicting a statement of mine to the effect, that at a criminal trial lately, I had made application that the prisoner (a woman) should be allowed a seat, when the Solicitor-General objected. The Solicitor-General, in his letter to you, repudiates the word objected, and says—"He never for a moment did so;" but goes on to say,—"I did point out to the Judge that the woman was apparently strong, that she had not complained of feeling tired or fatigued, &c." Am I now to understand that this was not objecting, but was the Solicitor-General's way of agreeing with the humanity of the application that the woman should be allowed to sit. The Solicitor-General, in his letter, says he told the Judge that "the usual practice was for accused persons, not suffering from illness, to stand until from fatigue they desired to sit down." This, to ordinary understandings, I suppose, means that the application for the woman to be seated should not be granted till from fatigue she could stand up no longer. The Solicitor-General, however, does not seem to think so, and does not look upon it as an objection to the application at all, which he repudiates having made most earnestly. If these statements of the Solicitor-General, made in his letter to you and quoted above, were not made in opposition to, and as objecting to the application on behalf of the woman, in the name of common sense what was their object or purpose! Surely the Solicitor-General was giving reasons why the woman should not be allowed a seat, and pressing those reasons on the Judge in order that she should not be so accommodated. And I therefore leave it to the good sense of your readers to say whether or not I was right in saying that the Solicitor-General objected to the application in question.

After the most fearful suffering from spasmodic Asthma for several years, I happened a short time since to see your Datura Tatula advertised, and immediately obtained some. One night, whilst suffering from a dreadful attack, I tried the remedy and had scarcely swallowed a mouthful of the smoke, when the effect was marvellous, and after a good sleep, I was as well as ever I was in my life. I now beg leave to tender to you my heartfelt thanks. The fumes have no bad effect upon my general health. The attacks get weaker and weaker every day and I am getting quite strong. A puff or two of Datura Tatula puts a stop at once to all threatening symptoms."—ADV.

The fine three-masted American schooner Amelia arrived yesterday from San Francisco, after a good passage of fifty-four days. She brings a full cargo of sawn timber, and reports leaving about the 24th August; had fair winds and weather to the Equator, but since then head winds had prevailed. On the 14th instant she encountered a violent S. W. gale. The Amelia took in her cargo of timber at Port Townsend, whence she sailed on the 10th August, calling at San Francisco.

The Macedon (s.) left Port Phillip Heads at 7.45 p.m. on Tuesday, passed Gabo at 2.30 a.m. on Thursday, and entered Sydney Heads at 10 a.m. on Friday. Experienced light head winds and fine weather to Twofold Bay, and strong head winds with fine weather from thence to Sydney.

The Rangatira (s.) left Melbourne on the 14th instant at 5.4 p.m., passed Wilson's Promontory on the 15th at 5.5 a.m., rounded Gabo Island on the 16th at 0.45 a.m., Montague Island at 10 a.m. same day, and arrived at Sydney on the 17th at 7 a.m. Experienced light N.E. winds to Gabo Island, light northerly winds from thence to Montague Island, and strong northerly winds the remainder of the passage.

The Spunkie, Alice Maud, and Hannah Newton, all from the Queensland ports, have been detained on their passage by southerly winds.

* In the imports per Strathnaver, from London, 8 packages to Mr. Spence were omitted.

Marine Board.—Official inquiry into the circumstances attending the collision between the steamers Breadalbane and Gomea was concluded yesterday on adjournment, after two long sittings, during which a number of witnesses were examined, and the Board found—"That the masters of the Breadalbane and Gomea were both to blame; the one for not obeying the 14th article of the 'Steering and Sailing Rules,' and the other for not taking steps to observe the 16th article in sufficient time to prevent the collision." Taking into consideration the circumstances, the Board considered that a reprimand to each master would be sufficient punishment, and David Morton and Joseph Stevens were reprimanded accordingly. Mr. J. H. Want, instructed by Mr. F. Curtis, appeared for the owners of the Gomea, and Mr. Davis, instructed by Messrs. Driver and Merriman, appeared for the owner of the Breadalbane. The Marine Board also held an investigation into the circumstances attending the fouling of the steamers Eclipse and Wemera when approaching Longnose Point, on their passage to Sydney, on the 26th ultimo, and found that George Drury, the master of the Eclipse, was to blame for committing a breach of the 17th article of the "Steering and Sailing Rules," and he was censured and cautioned as to his future conduct.

Loss of the Yacht Amy.—We regret to have to record the wreck of the yacht Amy, at Big Redhead, on Tuesday morning. The Amy left Newcastle on Monday, at 11 a.m., in charge of Messrs. Huntsdale and Evans, bound for Sydney. She reached as far south as Bird Island Point. By this time the wind had increased to a gale, and it was determined to run back for Newcastle. When off Redhead she shipped a very heavy sea, and Mr. Huntsdale then resolved to make for the beach, and in attempting to do this she struck on the rocks at 1 a.m. on Tuesday. At the time the night was very dark, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the men succeeded in saving their lives, indeed those who know the spot where the Amy struck consider it a miracle how they escaped. The yacht was 7 tons register, and at the time was ballasted with 3 tons of pig iron. The mast, sails, ballast, and all gear have been saved, but there is no chance of getting off the hull, which is fast breaking up. The Amy was the property of Mr. C. H. Hannell, of this city, but was sold by that gentleman, to arrive in Sydney. We are informed that the steam collier Saxonia was spoken, and Mr. Huntsdale requested to be taken in tow, but was refused by the master of the collier.—Chronicle, October 16.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1873.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Ministers stated, in answer to questions, that the Government were not aware that large vessels had left, or were about leaving the colony of Victoria in ballast for ports in India and America, instead of proceeding to Newcastle for coal owing to the insufficiency of the accommodation for shipping at that port; that the Government were about to advertise for four new cranes, and that the sum of £9000 had been placed on the Estimates for two more cranes for Newcastle; that the Rev. Dr. Quinn, Roman Catholic Bishop of Bathurst, had not been allowed to travel free by rail; that the members of the Press who obtained railway passes between the 14th September, 1873, and the 16th instant, were Mr. Vanes, Mr. Heaton, and the editor of the Critic, to each of whom a return pass was given for one occasion; that the contractors for the Yass railway extension were permitted to use white gum for posts in fencing if no better timber could be obtained in the district; that the actual cost to date of the survey and laying down of the base line at Lake George was £4705 4s. 4d.

Mr. Watson presented a petition from certain electors of the Lachlan, praying for additional representation.

The Deniliquin and Moama Railway Bill was read a third time, passed, and ordered to be transmitted to the Legislative Council.

On the motion of Mr. Rodd, returns were ordered in reference to the claim upon the Government of Mr. Richard Harraford in connection with the construction of Bredbo Bridge; and also in reference to the abolition of the office of Mr. W. H. Barron, as Resident Engineer at Clarence River, and his claim for compensation in consequence thereof.

Mr. Parkes laid on the table copies of the instructions issued by the Council of Education in the matter of the examination of Roman Catholic female teachers employed under the Public Schools Act, and the documents were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Stewart moved the second reading of the Unlawful Promises Bill, which he held was necessary in consequence of Roman Catholic clergymen exacting solemn pledges when they performed the marriage ceremony for mixed marriages, that the offspring of the marriages should be brought up in the Roman Catholic faith. He said it was indisputable that the practice of exacting pledges was followed, and in support of this assertion he quoted from a pamphlet published under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Guild of Sydney, in which the doctrine of the Roman Catholic Church in relation to mixed marriages was explained, and he also referred to a letter from the Rev. Dr. Lang alleging that the practice had been brought under his notice. He contended that the exaction of such promises was calculated to breed hypocrisy, deceit, and fraud, and that the object of it was to surrender the liberty of people to a Church which was more of a political than a religious confederacy. He did not suppose he would effect this reform at present, as, like all other reforms, it would not be acceded to when it was first proposed.

Mr. W. C. Browne characterized the bill as ridiculous and absurd, inasmuch as it would interfere with the private arrangements of families, and because, if it were true that such promises were exacted, there was no power to enforce them. He, however, denied that it was the custom of Roman Catholic clergymen to ask for promises, as had been alleged; and he said he spoke from personal experience.

Mr. Forster opposed the bill, for being inconsistent with the principle of perfect liberty in matters of religious belief as far as the law was concerned, which had been established in the colony.

Mr. Lucas was opposed to any bill such as the present, which would interfere with the liberty of the subject.

Mr. Jacob opposed the bill, and pointed out that it was at present a misdemeanour to administer a voluntary oath.

The House divided, and the second reading was negatived, the hon. the mover being the only member on the side of the ayes.

Mr. S. C. Brown moved the second reading of the Australian Jockey Club Bill, the objects of which were to extend the power of leasing the Randwick Racecourse from seven to twenty-one years, to borrow money for improvements, and to enable the trustees to sue and be sued.

Sir James Martin drew attention to the danger to the public health from the deposit at Randwick of offensive matter near the source of the water supply for Sydney, and he urged that inquiries should be made into statements that danger was to be apprehended.

Mr. Macintosh said that street-sweepings had been deposited under the authority of the Municipal Council to encourage the growth of grass, and that there was no likelihood of the water being affected.

Mr. Forster also thought the inquiry was called for in reference to the pollution of the water.

Mr. Lucas said that the deposit of street-sweepings for the purpose of promoting vegetation could be avoided by the use of loam and the planting of couch-grass; and he maintained that the tanneries at South Creek were not in any way calculated to injure the public health.

The bill was read a second time without division, passed through committee unamended, and reported.

Mr. S. C. Brown then moved the second reading of the Mercantile Bank Incorporation Bill, which was agreed to, and the House went into committee on the bill.

Clause 10, relating to bank notes, was amended, on the motion of Mr. Allen, in respect to the total amount of bank notes that might be circulated within the colony of New South Wales and the gold or bullion to be held by the bank as against its circulation. The remaining clauses were passed unamended, the bill was reported, and the report was adopted.

It was resolved in Committee of the Whole, on the motion of Mr. Lucas, that it was desirable to introduce a bill to make better provision for the management of the roads of the colony. The resolution was reported and adopted, and the bill was brought up and read a first time.

The adjourned debate on the resolutions of Mr. Webb, in reference to Free Railway Passes, was resumed by Mr. Hurley, (C. C.) who said he believed that the practice of issuing free passes had been abused in the case of Mr. Thatcher, who obtained a pass by representing that he was connected with the Herald, although it was well known that the proprietors of that paper always paid for their reporters. He thought that free passes ought not to be given to the Press except for particular occasions, and he also believed there was room for improvement in the charges for freight, some of the inequalities in which on the Western line he mentioned.

Mr. Forster hoped that the discussion would bring public opinion to bear upon the whole question of issuing free passes, and lead to reform. The indefinite power of granting free passes was liable to great abuse; and there was no doubt that the practice was opposed to the law, which was first broken to accommodate members of Parliament, some of whom signed a round robin, in order that they might obtain the privilege of travelling by rail at the public expense. There were petty country papers to which the granting of free passes was a matter of importance, and which might be influenced by favours of that kind; and hence the abuse and corruption to which the system was exposed. The Herald was honourably distinguished by not accepting such favours, and it would be well for the country if the privilege were entirely abolished.

Mr. Stewart advocated the introduction of a bill to define to whom passes might be issued under the sanction of the Minister for Public Works.

Mr. Hoskins was inclined to believe that Mr. Thatcher obtained an undue advantage, but he said that that was not a sufficient reason for the wholesale condemnation of the system. It was the custom to grant free passes on the English railways, and the same thing could be done with advantage for the public interests in this colony by the authority to issue them being wisely exercised.

Mr. Teece thought that the system had been grossly abused.

Mr. Booth was of a different opinion.

Mr. Parkes was opposed to the granting of free passes to members of the Press as such, but as the value of all the passes issued during the last five years was only £164 8s., he thought that there could not have been much abuse. There were occasions when it was for the interest of the country that the Press should have the choice of accepting free passes, and he thought it would also be well to continue the practice of giving passes to distinguished visitors, but he concurred in the opinion that the authority of the Government in such matters should be defined by law.

Mr. Robertson commended the debate, and advised the withdrawal of the resolutions.

After remarks from Mr. Wearne and Mr. Oakes, Mr. Webb replied, and the motion and amendment were withdrawn.

The report from the Committee of the Whole on the Bathurst Cattle Sale Yards Bill was adopted.

The House adjourned at 10, to 4 p.m. on Tuesday next.

The marvels of finance which have astonished the world since the American civil war have familiarized the minds of most men with achievements which would once have been pronounced impossible. The Times newspaper was filled with predictions of utter bankruptcy and total ruin impending over the great republic from the absolute impossibility of enduring the cost of multiplied loans and unexampled profusion. Every announcement was expected to burst the bubble, and to produce an utter collapse of military effort. It is impossible to go on much longer—was the frequent warning, and greenbacks seemed destined to vanish like the autumnal leaf. When the French and German war absorbed the attention of Europe, a few millions were declared to be beyond the limits of the money markets, and a solemn warning was given on the morning of the first French loan of some ten millions sterling, that it was most probably the last. This prediction, which would now seem like a wish rather than a probability, has been followed by a series of loans amounting to about four hundred millions sterling collected in the course of three years. If we turn to our own country we observe the same astonishing financial experience. We also have had our wars, small indeed compared with the operations on the Continent; but we have had large accumulations for the reduction of debt and other expenditure, and commercial progress has outstripped all former notions of possibility.

These wonders of the last few years would naturally prepare us to expect in Australia something unusual. Accordingly, in nearly all the colonies the increase of financial power has been startling, if we compare their sudden growth with the slow progress to which nations have been accustomed. We recollect an account of the feelings of the great pen-maker, Gillott, whose first success did not prepare him for his future prosperity. When the demand came in by every post for orders, and turned common metal into gold with the rapidity of a fairy achievement, he related that his surprise became wonder, and grew into amazement. His riches poured in so as to disturb his nervous system. The same kind of feeling must have deranged the Treasurers of the colonies, who, from having to divide their candles in half and weigh out their soap by ounces, found themselves masters of unwonted wealth and were disturbed by the embarrassment of riches. Here, Mr. Lloyd announced to the House the almost incredible intelligence that we had paid off two-thirds of the deficiency loan, and out of the £600,000 surplus expected at the end of this year he will finally wipe out the remainder; that he had the means off sweeping off obnoxious taxes and closing a long account of commercial annoyance and hope delayed; and that the limits of his present power had not reached the probabilities of the future. Never was there a Budget composed of such brilliant colours in any colony, and never was a Government so fortunate or supported by a Parliament more disposed to forget the past blunders and anticipate the best.

We recall the grievous years when, aided by our sagacious friend, Mr. Alexander Campbell, we exposed the £400,000 of debt which lurked under the name of a surplus. We remember with what astonishment the revelation was received, and how, in endeavouring to clear off the £400,000, a succession of Treasurers managed to increase it to £800,000. We remember with what painful self-denial the Ministers of the day managed to remedy the £800,000 of debt by a very large increase of taxation, including the stamp system and the ad valorem duties, and how, notwithstanding these additional burdens, the debt struggled manfully to maintain its undiminished existence, and increased rather than dissolved by the process of new taxation. In order to appreciate our improved condition these facts are worth recalling. Our conclusion undoubtedly was that the debt would never be paid, and that the deficiency would be converted into a permanent charge. Those who entertained more sanguine views have had the additional merit of having done so contrary to probability, and in consequence of changes to which they have not contributed in the smallest degree.

Our apprehension is that a future Minister like some prosperous gambler, will look to chances as the security of future prosperity. Many a man has been ruined from this cause alone. The imagination easily runs riot until real wants are greatly exceeded by those of fancy, and the power of income is utterly prostrated by extravagance. Some of the greatest fortunes the world has seen have been exhausted by delusive calculation. According to the motto of Dr. Johnson, the idea of plenty is the chief cause of penury, and it is quite as true in the Treasurer's office as anywhere else. Our good fortune in having sufficiency may thus become a source of future embarrassment; and the accumulation of debt, or more probably the vicissitude of affairs, may bring us back to the forbidden path and make our merchants again the agents of a system of roguery which now with such virtuous emotions we repudiate. Never was anything contrived more calculated to corrupt the minds of men than the ad valorem system of duties, until all sense of honesty is extinguished. It is, however, against the first encroachments of debt that we have to guard, for, "necessity," says the proverb, "has no law;" or, in other words, it is lawless. We hope indeed that the public voice may not stimulate the scandal of reckless expense. It is not to the Parliament that we must look for effectual check, because the members of the House as a body have one object—to obtain as large a share of public money as practicable for their "particular vanities." The only means of holding in check the spirit of recklessness is the thorough keeping of public accounts. Never let it be again the excuse of honest men that they have mistaken for years together a tremendous liability for a most encouraging balance. What would have been the real condition of this colony now had the commercial capabilities of the country been allowed their natural range, and if the wretched crotchets of a former generation had not possessed power enough to fetter the enterprise and pervert the industry of the people? We are all, however, apt to be wise behind the time, and one-half of life is made up of retracing our blundering steps.

Mr. Lloyd paid a proper tribute to the venerable statesman who introduced first the liberty of commerce and industry into this colony. For several years his tariff gave us a return that was ample, so long as his personal inspection secured correct accounts. It will be much to the honour of the Government of Mr. Parkes if he renews the illustrious example—to employ a French metaphor—"to make the two sides of the balance face each other." This is no small service in itself, since the example offered by the achievement preserves the honour and the credit of a country.

The Rifle Association held its thirteenth annual meeting last week. Each day's proceedings were reported in our columns, and these reports have been studied attentively by those who were marksmen or the friends of marksmen. Let us now, for the information of the general public, gather up the results, and, comparing them with the records of past shooting, ascertain whether skill has grown with practice; let us see also what relation our riflemen hold to the marksmen of Europe, who are not unfairly represented by the competitors for the prizes offered by the National Rifle Association.

The tendency of the use of arms of precision is to decrease the numerical force of an army by increasing individual efficiency. That which accomplishes a direct economy of a defensive force must be a matter of great consequence, especially in a colony such as this, where the area to be defended is immense, and the available defenders few. It is a service in which we are all interested, and in as far as the general public can assist by seeking to understand its methods and appreciate its objects, they should do so.

In order that those who did not attend the shooting last week, and know little about such things, may be enabled to understand what is said (which will otherwise be incomprehensible), and may be in a position to form some notion of the wonderful amount of skill attained by marksmen of the first class in the present day, it is necessary that we should state the size of the objects aimed at. The targets are of iron, painted white; that for the 200 yards' range measuring six feet by four feet, that for the 500 and 600 yards' ranges measuring six feet by six feet, and that for the 800, 900, and 1000 yards' ranges measuring six feet by twelve. In the middle of the first a space of two feet square is marked, in the centre of which is a bull's-eye or black space, eight inches square; in the second, the centre is four feet square, and the black bull's-eye two feet square; in the third, the centre is six feet square, the bull's eye being three feet. Having these particulars, any person may easily imagine the quality of the dexterity attained by marksmen who, in twenty consecutive shots, will make twenty consecutive bull's-eyes at 800 or 1000 yards, be the weather what it may. The marvellous shots of some of Captain Marryatt's backwoods-men pale before the achievements of the modern rifleman.

Let us now consider the scores, commencing with those made in the "All Volunteers' Match." This match engaged about 214 competitors. At 200 yards (the highest possible score being 20), 10 men made 18 points each. At 500 yards (the highest possible score being also 20), 3 men made 19, and 7 made 18; at 600 yards (20 points being the maximum attainable), 2 men made 19, 1 made 18, 3 made 17, 3 made 16, and 6 made 15. Looking at the aggregate, we perceive that 2 men obtained 50 points, 60 being the highest attainable; 1, 49; 1, 48; 2, 47; 5, 46; 4, 45; 1, 44; and so on. The greatest number of aggregate points scored in this match fell short of the possible number (12,540) by 5469; thus affording an average of 33·90 points to each marksman. Last year there were 244 competitors in this match, and while there were 2 men who made an aggregate of 52, and 2 more of 50, and 2 of 49, and 2 of 48, and so on down to an aggregate of 4, the shooting on the whole was not quite so uniform. The "All Volunteers" Match compares with what is known at Wimbledon as the "Alexandra;" and as we have not the details of the present year's contest, we recur to those of 1872. There were 1281 competitors; of these, 7 men made the highest possible score at 200 yards, 43 made one point less, namely, 19, and 8 made 18. The average at this range was 15·98 points. At 500 yards, 1291 men shot, the average being 13·71 points, 2 men making the highest possible score; 27 men, 19 points; and the remainder of 59 prize-takers, 18 marks. At 600 yards, 1228 men shot, the average being 10·16, 15 men making 18 marks, and 30, 17 marks. Looking at the aggregate, 3 men scored 53; 12 men, 52; 13 men, 51; and 6 men, 50 marks.

Now let us compare the scores made this year in the "Marksmen's Match." This match was open to all Volunteers who had obtained the marksman's badge for any year, and, containing picked men, may therefore be looked to for the highest results. Seventy-one men shot, the range being 800 yards, and the highest attainable marks 28. One man made 26, 2 men made 21, 1 made 20, 1 made 19, and 2 made 18. The greatest aggregate number of marks attainable by all the competitors was 1820, the actual number 777. The average, therefore, was 11·98, which implies irregular shooting; but the weather be it observed was bad, a strong wind blowing gustily across the ground. Last year the results were not so good. The "Henry" Prize Match, of Wimbledon, affords the comparison required. The total number of entries was 467, the average marks 17·91. One man attained the highest possible score, 28; 7 made 26, and 8 made 25.

We will next proceed to examine the results of the "All Comers' Match with any Rifle." Here we observe that 12 competitors fired at 600, 800, and 900 yards, the highest possible score in each case being 40 marks. At 600 yards, 2 men made 34 marks, and 1 made 33; at 800 yards, 1 man made 38, and 2 made 37 marks; at 900 yards, 1 man made 38, another made 37, and a third 36. The best aggregate score was 107, the next 103, the highest attainable being 120. This match displays remarkable accuracy. The equivalent to it at Wimbledon is found in the fourth series of "Extra Prizes," but inasmuch as seven shots in the one case were allowed, and ten in the other, the comparison is not perfect. We give the figures, however, and leave our readers to judge. Out of 151 men, 4 men obtain the highest possible score—namely, 28, and 11 men make 27 marks.

Lastly, for purposes of comparison we notice the "International Match." This contest is one that arouses national feeling, and calls out all the ability of those who consider it their duty to maintain at the butts that an Englishman is better than an Australian, and an Irishman equal to any two men of any nation under the sun, and so on. The riflemen according to their nationality send five representatives, armed with Henry rifles, who shoot at 200, 500, and 600 yards—28 marks being the highest possible score at each. This year the honour of victory has been won by the Australians. The highest score of the Irish at 200 yards was 24; of the English, 24; of the Scotch, 22; of the native-born, 25. The highest score at 500 yards was—of the Irish, 21; the English, 24; the Scotch, 24; of the Australian, 23. The highest score at the 600 yards was—of the Irish, 18; of the English, 14; of the Scotch, 22; of the Australian, 24. The total of the Irish was 259; of the English, 266; of the Scotch, 273; of the Australian, 297. The highest attainable number of marks was 1680, the highest number attained 1095, the average per man being 54·35. The results were better last year; the Irish team won with 317 marks, the Australian following with 309, the English and Scotch being third and fourth with 304 and 280 marks respectively. This match compares with the "International Challenge Trophy." In this case, the highest five, the English, obtained a total of 1194 marks; the Scotch, 1191; the Irish, 1116—there being twenty men in each team. The colonial Irish average was 51·80, the Wimbledon Irish average was 51·80; the colonial English average was 58·26, the Wimbledon English was 59·70; the colonial Scotch was 54·60, the Wimbledon Scotch was 59·55; and the Australian was 59·40. This last average will show how close the dexterity of the Australians has placed us to the highest results obtained in England, and must prove highly satisfactory.

It will be of no service to prolong the investigation, although a good deal might be said about the coming of new men to the front, the improved shooting of the Cadets, and the change for the better that has been made in the system of marking. It only remains to make a few observations in conclusion.

That results such as have been described should have been obtained by the Rifle Association is no small evidence of the good service effected by that institution. But for it our Volunteers and Regulars would not have attained such skill as distinguishes them. We learn therefore with much regret that the Association is likely to find, in spite of all the liberal efforts of its chief supporters, that the proceedings of the present year will give them a deficit instead of a balance to the good for a trophy. For some reason or another the entrances to the matches have been fewer than were expected; the calculations of the Association are consequently at fault. This circumstance, together with the expense attendant on sending the rifle teams to Melbourne, will, it is feared, leave them in difficulties. This will not, we trust, be allowed to impede their efforts for the next year, for it must be evident that we cannot afford to allow the usefulness of a voluntary association to be impaired for the want of funds, seeing that the effect of their influence has as yet been exerted upon a comparatively few of those who carry the rifle, and manœuvre artillery. Of 3335 persons representing our defensive force, it seems that not more than 685 are, or pretend to be, crack shots. The work of the Association will not be completed until the many be as the few; and all that is now wanting to this end is the liberal encouragement and hearty co-operation of the public with those who have this object in view.

LAND FRAUDS.—Rumours are current that the attention of the Government has been called to the improper mode in which some of the Riverine squatters are obtaining the finest portions of their runs for a trifle compared to the actual value the land would realize if sold by auction. Two Government officials are said to have been despatched from Sydney to inquire into the alleged improper practices, and we hear that a Crown lands officer in the Deniliquin district has been suspended pending the result of their inquiry. About a fortnight since, a correspondent writing about Victoria, and what he saw there, hinted that it was probable that "dummyism" would extend to Riverina. The probabilities now are that it has been introduced long since.

LICENSING ACT.—The following is a copy of the bill to amend the "Sale of Liquors Licensing Act of 1862," introduced in the Legislative Assembly by Mr. Sutherland on the 8th October. 1. Any person duly authorized by the Commissioner for Railways to supply refreshments to the public at any room provided for that purpose at any railway station, may, during the currency of such authority, sell and dispose of at the said room any spirituous or fermented liquors in quantities less than two gallons without having obtained a license under the "Sale of Liquors Licensing Act of 1862" anything in the said Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

ELECTION OF THE MAYOR BY THE CITIZENS.—Mr. Raphael has again introduced a bill to provide for the election of the Mayor of the city of Sydney by the citizens. The second clause of the measure provides:—"On the ninth day of December next, and on the like day in every succeeding year, the citizens enrolled on the citizens rolls for the various wards in the city of Sydney shall assemble in the various wards of the said city, and elect in the manner hereinafter mentioned out of the aldermen a fit and proper person to be Mayor of the city of Sydney, and the person so elected shall enter on office on the first day of January next following, and shall continue in such office for one whole year, or until a successor shall be elected, and shall enter upon office." The election is to be by ballot.

METROPOLITAN RAILWAY EXTENSION.—Yesterday afternoon, a meeting of the committee appointed in connection with the movement in favour of the "Metropolitan Railway Extension," took place at Messrs. Richardson and Wrench's Rooms in Pitt-street, Mr. E. W. Cameron in the chair. There was a numerous attendance, and amongst the gentlemen present were the Hon. Thomas Holt, Mr. J. R. Street, Mr. Sandys, Mr. Pope, Mr. Deane, Mr. Holden, and Mr. G. Pile, jun., the honorary secretary. Mr. Alderman Macintosh, M.L.A., was appointed a member of the committee. After the preliminary business, correspondence with the Minister for Public Works was read relative to the time when it would be convenient to that gentleman to receive the deputation. It appeared that the Minister had promised to name an early date for receiving the intended deputation, but that no day had yet been fixed—at which some surprise was expressed. The honorary secretary was requested to see the Minister as soon as possible, and ascertain when it would be convenient for him to receive the deputation. The honorary treasurer (Mr. Pope) presented his accounts, showing that additional subscriptions had been received, and that a good balance remained in hand. It was arranged that the committee would reassemble immediately before the time fixed by the Minister to receive the deputation.

NEW SOUTH WALES INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.—The annual meeting of this highly valuable institution will be held on Monday next, at 3 o'clock, in the institution, Newtown Road. The Governor has very kindly consented to preside. The year just closed has been a very successful one from all points, the committee, through the liberality of the subscribers, having succeeded in clearing the new buildings of debt, and having the nucleus of a fund in hand for some much-needed additions. The proficiency attained by some of the deaf and dumb, as well as the blind children, in the various branches of their education, will be shown.

ST. STEPHEN'S SUNDAY-SCHOOL, PENRITH.—The annual festival of this school took place on Wednesday last. The children assembled at the schoolroom adjoining the church at 9 a.m., when a short service was held, conducted by the incumbent, the Rev. John Vaughan. They then proceeded to the parsonage grounds, bearing flags and banners, and headed by the Penrith Volunteers' Rifle band. Various kinds of athletic sports were indulged in, and at 12 and 4 o'clock an abundance of edibles, usual upon such occasions, was distributed. The children numbered 263. A spacious booth had been erected for the shelter of visitors from the rays of the sun, and upwards of 200 assembled.

BOTANIC GARDENS.—The band of the New South Wales Artillery will perform this afternoon, at 3.30, under the direction of Lieutenant Callen (weather permitting). Programme: March, "Love's Secret," Callen; quadrille, "Merry Christmas," Marriott; selection, "Il Barbiere," Rossini; waltz, "Claribel," Coote; march, "Love not," Callen; quadrille, "Lord of Lorn," Godfrey; "God save the Queen."

THE TICHBORNE CASE.—In our London telegram of yesterday it was stated that the steward of the Osprey had been examined, and that he identified the claimant as a person who was picked up off the Brazilian coast by that vessel and landed at Melbourne, in 1854. The San Francisco Bulletin contains some particulars of Mr. Whalley's visit to America in connection with the Tichborne case; we extract the following:—The New York despatches of the 8th August referred to the arrival from London of John Whalley, M.P., in pursuit of testimony favourable to the claimant in the Tichborne estate, and also stated that a man appeared in England about three weeks ago who pretended to have been a steward on board the Osprey which rescued "Sir Roger" from the boat of the wrecked Bella. He corroborated important evidence already given in the trial, and favourably impressed those with whom he came in contact. Under these circumstances, Mr. Whalley determined to come to America and investigate the steward's statement, and already his inquiries have been prosecuted with fair success. During the trial the counsel for the claimant failed to prove that such a vessel as the Osprey had an actual existence, and the absence of material proof as to the character of the Osprey naturally created an impression in the public mind that the alleged Osprey was in reality a myth, and existed only in the imagination of those who were forging the chain of evidence in the interest of the claimant. Wednesday a Bulletin reporter visited the naval office in the Custom-house, and secured indubitable proof of the existence of the Osprey, together with information as to her whereabouts during the ill-fated voyage of the Bella. The British schooner Osprey, Captain Griggs, arrived at San Francisco, from Hobart Town, Van Diemen's Land, in April, 1852, with a cargo consisting of sugar, potatoes, and onions, consigned to an importer named I. White, the duties on the importation amounting to 1189 dollars 90 cents. She cleared for Java early in May. In 1857 the Osprey arrived in this port from Rotuma Island, and, after discharging a cargo of provisions, sailed for British Columbia and other countries in the north. We have no record of the vessel after she sailed for British Columbia. The new link in the chain of evidence is certainly an important one. It can be proved by the records of the naval office that such a vessel as the Osprey really existed, and at the time the claimant claims to have been rescued from a watery grave, and taken to some Australian port, was engaged in the Australian trade. The Bella sailed from Valparaiso in 1854, with the real Sir Roger Tichborne on board, and has ever since been missing. The assertion that the claimant was rescued by her is plausible now, because the existence and the then whereabouts of a vessel bearing the same name as the one he credits with having saved his life is proven by official papers. Here is a clue for Mr. Whalley.

AMUSEMENTS.—The only places of amusement now open are the Victoria Theatre, Spencer's Polytechnic, and the Theatre Royal,—which have been doing a good business during the week. The latter establishment will close shortly, for repairs, and reopen under the name of the Queen's Theatre, for a dramatic season.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday forenoon, the City Coroner (Mr. Henry Shiell) held at his office, in Hyde Park, an inquest respecting the cause of death of a young man named George Cuphley alias George Dalton, whose death took place in the Infirmary on the previous day. Mary Stevens deposed that she resided at 34, Crown-lane, Woolloomooloo; she was a charwoman, and went out to work by the day; deceased was known to her by the name of George Cuphley; he was 24 years of age and a native of England; he was a single man; he was by trade a butcher; he had resided with her during the last two years; he had lately been working at Weir's, the butcher's, in Pitt-street; so far as she knew he was a sober steady young man; between 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon she saw him yesterday at her place; he was sober; she next saw him at the Infirmary last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock; she there gave his name as George Dalton; the mother told her that his name was Cuphley; sometimes he went by the name of George Dalton, and that was why she gave that name at the Infirmary; his mother was now before the Court she believed. James Rennie Stewart deposed that he was a butcher in the employ of Mr. Weir, of Pitt-street; he was working there yesterday; he knew deceased, who was called at the shop "Ned," as there were two Georges in it; about half-past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon witness and deceased were in the back yard of Mr. Weir's premises; deceased went to the loft and witness remained underneath on the ground; he asked witness to assist him in sending up a bag of corn, by means of a "tackle fall," which was round a single block fixed in a small projecting beam; there was a small trap or platform below; there was no "belay" underneath; a portion of the fall was put round the bag of corn, which weighed about 200 lbs., and witness commenced to pull at the fall; deceased also while standing on the platform pulled at the fall to assist him in hoisting the bag; witness had only given two or three pulls, so as just to raise the bag off the ground, when deceased suddenly fell at his feet, followed by the block and tackle; he thought that the lashing of the chain which went round the beam, and to which the block was attached, must have given way; neither the beam nor the block gave way; he thought that deceased fastened the chain to the beam about a fortnight ago; it was deceased's duty, with help, to send things up into the loft; when deceased fell he said, "I am a dead man, Jim," or words to that effect; he never heard him speak after that; deceased was perfectly sober yesterday afternoon; witness at once cried for help, and a man named John Field came, as well as another man, named "Harry," a shopman; they put him into a spring-cart and took him to the Infirmary, where they left him. By jury: Deceased fell a distance of quite ten feet; the chain was only once round the beam; it did not break; they had previously hoisted light weights of hay; he did not examine the lashing. By Coroner: Deceased fell on the back of his head. Dr. T. H. Gillman, house physician at the Sydney Infirmary, deposed that, when received into the institution, deceased was suffering from a compound comminuted fracture of the skull immediately above the left eye; he was bleeding from the nose, and had some unimportant bruises on the forehead; he became comatose shortly after admission, and expired within about an hour after; the cause of death had been the injuries described. The jury returned a verdict of "Death from injuries accidentally received." The foreman of the jury directed the attention of the Coroner to the condition of the body when they viewed it in the dead-house. It was covered with a cloth which at the time remained saturated with the man's blood, and which formed an object which disgusted those whose duty it had been to view the remains. The Coroner said that the condition of the cloth around the body had also attracted his attention, and he had spoken about the matter. Surely there was a clean sheet in the Infirmary which could have been spared to wrap round it.

REMEMBER THE POOR.—A correspondent writes:—"In perusing the reports of some of the charitable institutions, I observe that several of the successful competitors in connection with the Rifle Association matches of last year were good enough to remember them in contributing a portion of their awards; and I believe if the successful competitors for this year were only reminded of the fact, or some of them, they would only be too happy to imitate the example."

CAUTION TO SHIPMASTERS.—Captain Hughes, of the barque M. A. Annison, was summoned before the Water Police Court yesterday, charged by inspector Bell with having committed a breach of the Navigation Act by throwing overboard into the harbour about 400 empty sugar mats. Mr. Lowe, who appeared for defendant, informed the Bench that the bags were thrown over without the knowledge of the captain, who was willing to rectify the mistake made by sending out a boat to pick up the mats, which were floating about. The Water Police Magistrate stated that if defendant promised to do that, the Bench would only inflict a small fine. Defendant gave the promise, and the Bench ordered him to pay a penalty of £5 and 6s. 6d. costs.

RICHMOND RIFLE CORPS.—The half-yearly inspection of the Richmond Rifle Corps was held on Wednesday, by Colonel Richardson, who was accompanied by Captain Christie, major of brigade. At the conclusion of the drill, which occupied about an hour, the colonel addressed the company in commendatory terms. He enumerated the various points worthy of praise, mentioning particularly the light infantry drill. He also paid a compliment to Captain Holborow, who had evidently spared no pains to make his men as efficient as possible. The fife and drum band played various selections during the inspection, and reflected much credit on their instructor, sergeant White.

CRICKET.—The first elevens of the Warwick and University cricket clubs will commence a match this afternoon on the Albert Ground, and, as the teams are likely to be strong, an interesting contest may be anticipated.

THE OPERA.—Yesterday evening the opera was under the patronage and in the presence of the Hon. Lady Robinson and suite, when Verdi's "Rigoletto" was produced. Though one of the best works of the fertile composer, it somehow or other is not very popular with colonial audiences. Last night the combined influence of viceregal patronage and the near approach of the end of the season were, however, sufficient to fill the theatre. The opera was very well performed. Signora Coy sustained the role of Gilda, and it is one exactly suited to her quality of voice, and her style of representation. The duet "Veglia o Donna," was given by her and Signor Coliva with capital effect, and elicited a round of applause; and another fine piece of vocalisation was the Signora's singing of "Caro nome il mio core," in which several effective interpolations are introduced. This piece was also followed by loud applause. Signor Coliva, generally good in all his attempts, is especially so in the character of the unfortunate Jester; the various emotions by which he is moved are well depicted, his best vocal effort was the plaintive "Deh non Palane." The extraordinary scene in which he raves about the loss of his daughter, and is reviled by the Countess, displayed a large amount of dramatic power on Coliva's part. Signor Rosnati made a sufficiently dashing Duke of Mantua, and sang well; of course, the "Donna e mobile" was the feature of his part. Madame Chambers appeared as Maddalena, a role that is not a very prominent one. This evening "Mosè in Egitto" is to be produced.

NEW SOUTH WALES ALLIANCE FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF INTEMPERANCE.

YESTERDAY evening, a public meeting in connection with the New South Wales Alliance for the Suppression of Intemperance was held in the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, for the purpose of adopting a petition to Parliament against the extension of the Licensed Publicans' Act to railway stations, and also to adopt a petition for the total prohibition of the sale of intoxicating drinks on the Sunday. The Hon. J. B. Wilson presided. There was a very large attendance. The chairman was supported on the platform by Mr. J. Mills, Mr. J. Palser, Mr. Samuel Goold, Mr. Callaghan, Dr. Neild, Mr. B. Mountcastle, the Rev. D. Allen, the Rev. A. Webb, the Rev. Dr. M'Gibbon, Mr. W. J. Foster, and the Rev. T. Gainford.

The CHAIRMAN opened the proceedings by reading the advertisement calling the meeting. He hoped the meeting would not think he was travelling out of his way in making a few remarks upon the subject for which that meeting was called. Their object was to petition the Legislature to prevent an extension of the Publicans' Act, and to amend it in some respects. When he noticed recently that a member of the Government had introduced a bill to amend the Publicans' Act of 1862 in the innocence of his heart he was delighted at the announcement. But he was much disappointed when he found that the proposition of the Government was to give permission to parties on the line to sell intoxicating drinks. When they considered what the effects of such a course would be, upon the railway employes, and the people who travel on the line, they would say with him that it was a proposition that ought to be opposed by every right thinking man and woman in the community. (Cheers.) He was free to admit that the refreshment-rooms on our railways were a disgrace, but they could be amended without the introduction of intoxicating drinks at all. (Cheers.) It was perfectly ridiculous to say that persons could not travel from Sydney to Goulburn—a journey of six hours and a half—without having intoxicating drinks. He had travelled on the railways a great deal, and had never heard any person complain, and he was sure that no injury was done to any one through going without drink during those journeys. Let them consider if this bill were carried what accidents were likely to happen. No doubt it would be said that the Government intended to make stringent regulations to prevent the railway men from getting drink, but where there was a will there was a way, and if the men could not get it for themselves, Jack, Tom and Harry would get it for them. It was a very easy thing to put a bottle of brandy upon an engine, and, as they knew, most of the railway accidents in England had been traced to the use of intoxicating drinks. There was particular danger on our Western line. All the care and energy of the engine-drivers were required in traversing the Zigzag. He had a letter in his hand, taken from an argument for the legislative prohibition of the liquor traffic, which he would read:—"Sir,—Will you be so good as to direct public attention to the dangerous practice (getting every day more common) of treating railway officials to drink in the refreshment rooms at the stations? Only the other day, at a certain station, I had occasion to talk to several guards and porters, and found almost every one of them to smell strongly of the bottle. Travelling by a night train lately, I observed several gentlemen treat the guard to drink. This very day, I have counted nearly a dozen railway servants in a refreshment room all drinking. I would not attribute any of the late accidents to this cause—though certainly suspicion is justifiable—but the custom is really getting so common, and the possible, nay probable consequences so awful, as to demand the attention of railway companies, or, still better, of the Government, to consider whether, notwithstanding the inconvenience to the public, it would not be advisable to prohibit the sale of spirits (&c.) at railway stations. Fancy an engine-driver or a pointsman drunk!—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, A Commercial Traveller." Now, if those things could happen in England, they could happen in New South Wales, and he thought they were justified in asking the meeting to lend a helping hand to prevent demoralisation of the public servants, and to prevent the Government from passing this obnoxious law. (Applause.) Another subject for them to consider was the closing of public-houses on Sunday. (Hear, hear.) That, he thought, was a point upon which very few persons would raise a dissentient voice, and he would do all in his power to get this boon to the community. He had another letter in his hand, which he would read:—"Sir,—I was much gratified at seeing the account of a meeting for the purpose of suppressing Sunday traffic in alcohol, and I have no doubt many more publicans would hail it as a boon; one day's relaxation from legitimate disorder would afford immense relief from toil; but I think you go too far in debarring the working man from his dinner beer; it is his only day he can enjoy a good meal and rest thereafter, and one hour would enable him to compass in his estimation a very trifling concession. I would remind you that you are independent of Boniface, as you possess a cellar of your own. Extremes always defeat themselves, as those two old fellows, Draco and Lycurgus, found by experience. Unfortunately, we are obliged to set the law at defiance; our next door or opposite neighbours will sell under any circumstances, and our customers will tell us plainly, if you don't oblige us on a Sunday we will ignore you on Monday. 'Magna est veritas et prevalebit.' Your obedient servant, An Old Pub." He believed that to be the sentiments of most of the publicans in the colony. With reference to that sympathy for the poor man and his beer, he had associated as much as anyone with the poor man, or as he would call them, the mechanic classes, and he believed that cry was got up entirely by their interested friends the publicans. (Hear, hear.) If they prevented the sale of all goods on a Sunday, they had just as good a right to prevent the sale of intoxicating drinks upon that day. (Applause.) When the Act of 1862 was passed the publicans were looked upon as quite an exceptional class; but he believed the public had now found out their mistake. That Act gave no power to the police to enter a public-house. No respectable publican would object to that power, but as they knew, there were many publicans who would object. It was absolutely necessary that the police should have this power. He would detain the meeting no longer, but call upon the Rev. Dr. M'Gibbon to address them.

Dr. M'GIBBON moved the first resolution as follows:—"That this meeting views with alarm the proposed alteration in the Licensed Publicans' Act to extend its operations to the sale of fermented and spirituous liquors at the refreshment rooms of our railways; and believe that easy access to intoxicating drink by engine-drivers, stokers, pointsmen, and other railway workers, would seriously endanger the safety which has hitherto attended railway travelling in New South Wales, as it is notorious that many accidents in England have been occasioned by the drunkenness of the railway employes. And this meeting also believes that the supply of intoxicating drink at such refreshment rooms would tend to the discomfort and annoyance of respectable persons, especially ladies, travelling, and have generally an injurious and demoralising effect on the community." He had been asked to move this resolution, but he thought it would have been better done by some one more intimately acquainted with the Publicans Act than he was. But having been asked he thought it his duty to do what he could to aid the Society for the Suppression of Intemperance. This, he would point out, was not a question interesting simply to the teetotalers but was of consequence to the public at large. Certain friends of his in the Assembly were in the habit of getting very merry when they had anything to do with teetotalism. They had a strong love for the refreshment room, and went there very frequently, and when they came back, if a question like the Permissive Bill was brought forward, they became exceedingly merry in talking about teetotalism and water-drinkers. Every one who either travelled, or who had friends who did so, was interested in this question. It was a question whether the railway management of this colony was to be deteriorated or improved. Surely if the railway management were to be affected injuriously by the proposed bill, this was a question interesting to the whole community. It resolved itself into this—Are the numbers of the publicans to be increased or not? This was a question of increase, and nothing more or less; but all of them who lived in that city would testify that there were too many publicans already. (Hear, hear.) The amendment in the bill now proposed by a member of the Government was simply that there should be an increase of some fifty public-houses, and that too in the most dangerous places where they could be placed. (Applause.) These public-houses were to be along the line, in the immediate neighbourhood of those to whom our lives and the lives of our friends would be entrusted. There had been a good deal of excitement over the Permissive Bill, but many friends who were not teetotalers were anxious to see the power given to the people in any place to say whether the number of public-houses in it should be lessened. The present Government had never supported this movement, and they now asked for power to increase the number of public-houses. The Permissive Bill which the Government now wished to bring forward was not to diminish the number but really to increase the number of public-houses. (Cheers.) This was a time when it would not become those who were the well-wishers of the community to remain in a neutral position. He thought that it was within the province of the people to tell the Government whether they desired to have more public-houses or not; and he did not think there would be a proper regulation of the drink traffic until the residents in the community had the power to say so. (Hear, hear.) This was a strange proposal—to propose additional public-houses in the face of an overflowing exchequer. But the Government did not intend to charge additional license fees for the additional public-houses, but as there would be a greater quantity of drink sold, there would be a proportionate increase in the revenue. He would call upon everyone present, or in the community, whose mind was properly regulated, to say whether the Government was to have the power to increase the number of public-houses. There were already too many on every side. (Hear, hear.) They were the chief sources of the demoralisation which existed in our midst. The chairman had said that they were the source of much of the crime in the community. That was a fact which they all deplored. The Government sought to create a privileged class of publicans (hear, hear), a new class, who were to be public officials, who were always to keep their places in good order, and to look very narrowly into the faces of the customers, and say whether they were in a position to stand more liquor. (Hear, hear.) But his audience knew that publicans were always civil to their customers, and were always prepared to ask them what they wanted to drink, and how much they would have. (Laughter.) It was for this community to say whether the Government should set up another class of publicans, to the injury of those whom they had already licensed. Such an Act would be as if the Government were to set up one of these privileged publicans without a license opposite to a publican who had paid £30 for his license. They would see that in justice existing publicans exception could be taken to this matter. If it were thought necessary to introduce a new class, it was also necessary to do justice to the old class. (Hear, hear.) But they had to look higher than the mere question of justice between man and man. Although they might sympathise with the men whose interests were at stake, they did not seek any increase in the number of publicans. This proposal of the Government was evidently an attempt to set up a free trade in public-houses, or the first move towards the adoption of such a system. (Hear, hear.) They would all deplore the setting up of free trade in intoxicating drink, as if it were necessary to life and comfort. Free trade in the selling of drink would be a source of demoralisation greater than any which had yet been seen in our midst. (Hear, hear.) He did not see why the Government might not as well give permission to sell drink without a license along George-street as allow it to be done along our railway lines. (Hear, hear.) He looked upon the proposal as the introduction of the thin end of the wedge of free trade in drink. He would always protest against publicans having such powers conferred upon them, as he would oppose any Government or civil council who would give people the right to open such shops, or places for the sale of intoxicating drinks, without being placed under stringent rules. He believed that it was for the people to say, in any community, they would have a certain number of public-houses or not. This was a question also of danger or safety in travelling along the line. He believed that every one of them would be satisfied with the government of our railways so far as their safety was concerned. Perhaps there was no country where comparatively there were fewer railway accidents than here; and he attributed this, to a large extent, to the fact that drink could not be obtained in the immediate neighbourhood of the railway, and that the employes on our lines did not have intoxicating drink brought under their very nose. (Hear, hear.) If we wished our present safe state of our lines to continue, if we desired that our railways should be properly managed, if few accidents were to occur upon them, we must be especially careful that those to whom it was necessary that we should entrust our lives and those of our friends should not have placed in their way too many temptations to indulgence in intoxicating liquors. The question was also one of comfort of the passengers by train. He could well remember, when travelling by stage coach in olden times, the time that was wasted by passengers getting down at wayside inns; the change in the manners of those who previous to taking drink were agreeable companions; and the discomforts attended with the circumstance of having been wedged between two persons who smelt strongly of drink. And the same scenes would be enacted in railway carriages if the Government of the colony carried into effect its avowed intention. And this was another reason why they should put themselves forward and say we will not give the Government such power, which would enable people who were in the habit of drinking to annoy and disgust us in travelling along the lines. It was also very noticeable that waiters in refreshment rooms were much more ready to supply drink than to furnish tea; and he held it to be a certainty that where drink was sold refreshments of other kinds were always inferior and not what they would be if the drink were altogether removed. (Hear, hear.) He believed that drink, including Sunday drinking, had been the cause of the ruin of more than the half of the people that had been ruined in the community—not only of men but of women. He believed that one-half of the women on our streets had been led astray through drink. (Hear, hear.) And he was sure if these public-houses were established along the railway lines that many of the passengers, especially by Sunday trains, for instance, to Haslem Creek, would be led to ruin through the drink which they could obtain by the way. If these public-houses were established they would have far greater reason to deplore the extent to which demoralisation and immorality prevailed in this community. (Cheers.)

Mr. W. J. FOSTER seconded the resolution. He desired to impress upon those who approved of this resolution to take action accordingly. In properly conducted democratic Governments and institutions the sensible and well-meaning members of the community took a leading part, and had a voice in such measures as were submitted concerning the interests of the people. In too many cases here, however, the well-meaning and the well-disposed allowed all action to be taken by others who were not so well disposed as they, but far more active. And thus it was that fair trials were not always given to free institutions. He was happy to say that this condition was fast passing away; and the sensible members of the community were taking a more active part with regard to elections and other matters. He believed that the matter which they had met here to consider was one affecting the well-being of a large majority of the community; for railways were extended through the country in every direction, and there were very few who did not at some time or other avail themselves of them. It was a matter affecting the safety and the lives of railway passengers. If anything were necessary to advocate the claims of this resolution—that was the importance of the matter to which it referred, we had only to fancy ourselves in the position of passengers in a train going down the Zigzag, in which they were every moment in imminent peril through the incapacity through drink of the engineer or the stoker. He believed they had only to speak in a determined manner to the Government to secure the end they had in view; and that there were gentlemen in the Assembly who would only be too glad to carry out the wishes of the majority—he was sure nine-tenths of the people would sign a petition embodying the object of the resolution. The only persons who would object were those poor creatures who could not resist the appetite for drink. Every one who had relatives and friends, and particularly female ones, were interested in the proposed regulation being thrown out. People travelling by railway who had part of the journey been perfectly sober and inoffensive, would, after a visit to the refreshment room for drink, use language of the foulest kind; and this, too, it might perchance be, in a first-class carriage, and in the hearing of ladies. And if passengers in a first-class carriage, presumedly men of respectability and of education, acted in such a manner while intoxicated; what might not be the effect on other passengers who will have had the same temptations to indulgence in drink placed in their way. They could not but think that it was their bounden duty to exert themselves to prevent this Government bill from passing into law. They must not be at all remiss about it, but be up at once and doing, bringing all the influence that they possibly could to bear upon the Upper House, if they were now too late to stop the bill in the Assembly. If they only bestirred themselves as they ought to do, they might readily obtain a strong and general expression of public opinion against that very ill-advised and most unfortunate measure. Let them do their duty fearlessly as men, as citizens, and as Christians to get the bill rejected by the Legislature, and much would be gained for good. He had very great pleasure in seconding the resolution. (Cheers.)

The resolution was put and carried by a unanimous vote.

The Rev. A. WEBB moved the second resolution, which was as follows:—"That this meeting believes that the Sunday traffic in intoxicating drink is a fruitful source of crime, misery, drunkenness, and immorality, as proved by the records of our Police Courts, whose Monday business chiefly consists of cases arising from this cause. It is, therefore, necessary to the welfare of the community that publicans should be subject to the laws affecting other trades, and compelled to close their houses on that day, that their employes may enjoy the privilege of rest, and have an opportunity of attending public worship as well as other citizens. And that the Act abolishing police supervision having proved highly injurious, should be repealed, and the police authorized to enter public-houses at any time. That this resolution be embodied in a petition signed by the chairman on behalf of this meeting and presented to both Houses of Parliament." In presenting this resolution to the meeting he had, at first, wondered why he had been asked to move it, but supposed he had been selected because it was known that what he had just read contained so large an embodiment of his sentiments—even yet more fully than was expressed in the first resolution which had been carried in that meeting without one dissentient voice. It was known to them, and to many more, that he was an open and professed enemy to the liquor trade, considering it to be something that had not one solitary point of recommendation. He had always been glad to identify himself with the principles of those who wished to do away with such unholy traffic altogether, but if that good thing could not yet be accomplished, he should hail, with joy and thankfulness, any prospect of an immediate mitigation and amendment of its manifold evils. The public-houses were altogether demoralising, opposed to the influence of Christianity, and totally devoid of any of those salutary results which were to be looked for from the prosecution of other more reputable callings. It was quite enough for him to witness the effects which irresistibly flowed from the demoralising influences of the public-house to be its avowed and inveterate enemy; statistics and facts everywhere bearing him out in his earnest and solemn convictions upon this momentous subject. It was quite enough for him that in Ireland the clergy of the Reformed Episcopal, the Roman Catholic and the Presbyterian Protestant Churches, all united in this one thing—that for that country the greatest wrong that had been inflicted upon her was the opening of the public-houses on the Lord's Day. (Cheers.) The voice of Scotland was also heard on the same side. The people of Scotland rejoiced that they could say—"For twenty years we have been protected from the great grievance of having public-houses open on the Sabbath." In England, too, the same view was now that strongly upheld by the law, and he heartily hoped that Australia should yet be enabled to say:—"We, too, will not have public-houses opened on the Lord's Day." (Loud cheers.) He looked upon the public-house as the upas tree at present planted in our society, which we had to uproot and destroy; and the most baleful fruit that that accursed tree produced was this evil business on the Lord's Day. It encouraged men who were fathers of families to waste their weekly wages on degrading demoralising drink, instead of spending their time on the Sabbath in worshipping God, or in enjoying those comforts of their homes by which man was both refreshed and encouraged in the path of duty. The rev. gentleman went on to urge that on behalf of the publicans themselves this enforcement of a law which should totally prohibit the sale of drink on Sunday would be a direct temporal advantage, inasmuch as it would give them what they were now debarred from—twenty-four hours rest for every seventh day—that interval of rest which experience had incontestably shown to be indispensable for man and beast. He pointed out how the toleration of "side-door selling on Sundays" injured the better disposed publicans, and was a material and serious disadvantage to those who least deserved that they should be thus injured. Let them see the whole traffic stopped as soon as they could; but if that could not yet be effected, let them take the proposed instalments. After some further remarks in condemnation of the Sunday liquor traffic, the rev. gentleman concluded by saying that from the depths of his heart he proposed that resolution.

The Rev. T. GAINFORD seconded the resolution in a forcible speech, condemning the bill as a most indefensible source of temptation, and a contemplated origin of inevitable dangers to the public at large. He condemned, on religious, commercial, and moral grounds, this Sunday traffic anywhere; but above all things he reprobated this sale of drink on railways at any time, because it always led to accidents. He described some of those which had occurred through the drunkenness of stokers and drivers in England and elsewhere. Here, accidents had been uncommon, because no such direct temptation had intervened. The rev. gentleman gave an animated sketch of the elevating effect of a well-spent Sabbath, and contrasted therewith a Sunday desecrated by an indulgence in strong drink. He suggested that the employes of the railway and their wives ought all to petition the Minister for Works against the bill.

The resolution was put and carried, as before.

Mr. SAMUEL GOOLD moved a resolution proposing the adoption of a petition to Parliament embodying the first resolution. He laid great stress upon the prevalence of accidents at home through drink, and cited several terrible cases in proof of his position. He hoped the Opposition would be so united and so firm that the Government would have to withdraw the bill.

Dr. NEILD seconded the motion, and explained that the "Morality Society" had taken up the same view that they were all impressed with so forcibly—that Sunday trading was a most fruitful source of demoralisation.

The motion was carried as before.

Mr. CALLAGHAN moved the adoption of a petition embodying the terms of the second resolution, mutatis mutandis.

Mr. J. PALSER seconded.

Motion put and carried as before.

The proceedings terminated in a vote of thanks to the chairman, which was suitably acknowledged.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

FROM the San Francisco journals to the 23rd August we extract the annexed telegraphic news from Europe. Several of the items contained therein are new.

THE WAR IN SPAIN.

Madrid, August 12.—In the Cortes yesterday, the resolution authorising legal proceedings against members of that body implicated in recent insurrectionary movements was adopted. The minority remains obstinate, and threatens to resign unless a general amnesty is granted to the Republican insurgents. Contreras left Cartagena on Monday with four hundred adherents, and made a bold effort to march to Madrid, hoping to find sympathy and fresh accessions on the way, but his band was met and dispersed by national troops. Contreras escaped; his capture, however, is probable, as cavalry are on his track. It is reported that a reconciliation has been effected between Martos and Sagasta, and a coalition of their political supporters will speedily follow.

Royal Headquarters, Zubia, North-east of Pampluna, August 12.—We are marching with Generals Elio and Dorregaray and five thousand men towards Aragon, with a view to raise that province and operate with the movements in Catalonia and Navarre. Yesterday we passed within sight of Pampluna. No attempt was made to molest us. Three hours later we took Fort Bourpette, which was abandoned by the garrison. We found a quantity of cartridges and other war material there, as in other forts lately captured, including Elisonda and San Estevan. Such of the population as are known to be favourable to the Republicans are subjected to heavy taxation. General Velasco, commander of the Republican forces, has demanded from Madrid 10,000 men as reinforcements, without which he declares himself unable to operate.

Madrid, August 15.—One thousand insurgent refugees from Valencia have landed on the coast of Alicante, and are levying contributions on the rich towns. Five British, one American, and three Italian war vessels arrived outside, when Fort Galenas fired on them. A few shots were exchanged, without apparent effect. Cartagena is preparing for a long struggle. All the males above 16 years of age have been enrolled. The streets are almost deserted, and shops are closed. The insurgents are issuing paper money. It is believed that the ironclads Alianza and Vittoria will be held by the Germans until an organized government exists to which they can be returned.

London, August 17.—A Herald correspondent at Cartagena telegraphs that Martinez Campos besieges the city with 6000 soldiers, two batteries, and twelve mortars. The fleet continues to guard the rebel frigates. The German and British Consuls have left the city.

Carlist Headquarters, San Juan, August 18.—The French Government has taken initiatory steps toward recognizing the Carlists as belligerents, having issued orders permitting the transit of arms and munitions of war between the two Custom-lines in south of France. A decree dated in March, 1805, which prohibited such transportation on the borders, is now rescinded by the Government, and the authorities have been notified by circular, thus enabling the Carlists to dispense with use of a steamer and risk her capture.

Madrid, August 18.—The Epoca of this city alleges that the French Government is secretly favouring the operations of the Carlists, in order to strengthen the cause of Count de Chambord. The Spanish Consuls in France complain of the tolerance of the French authorities on the frontier toward the Carlists.

London, August 18.—A Herald correspondent at Cartagena, under date of August 16, telegraphs that all women and children and non-combatants have been ordered to leave the city during the impending struggle. The city of Murcia was taken yesterday by Campos. Firing has commenced at the Spanish fleet under Admiral Lobos, blockading San Pedro.

Perpignan, August 19.—A desperate engagement has just taken place between a force of Carlists, numbering 800 men, and three columns of Spanish Republicans. The battle was fought in the open country, between the towns of Berga and [illegible], and resulted in the defeat of the Republicans, with a loss of two hundred men and one gun.

New York, August 12.—A translation is published here of the Papal allocution, delivered on the 25th of July, denouncing the recent law enacted by the Italian Parliament for the disposal of church property to all concerned in the execution of the law, or who purchase church property under it. His Holiness says that what they have done, or will do, is worthless, null and void, and that they have incurred major-excommunication, and other censures, and that they are in manifest danger of eternal damnation.

Dublin, August 12.—A desperate fight took place yesterday, on the Curragh of Kildare, between two Irish regiments. Several were killed and a great many severely wounded.

Panama, August 12.—The West Coast Mail says:—The heaviest earthquake which has occurred within the memory of the oldest inhabitants has just taken place. From the time of the first shock, on the morning of the 12th instant, until 2.20 a.m. on the 5th, when the strongest shock occurred, upward of twenty well-defined tremors of the ground were felt.

AMERICA.

WE have received San Francisco papers to the 23rd August. The following news is extracted from the Alta California and Bulletin.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Chicago, August 19.—A Tribune Washington special says the Comptroller of Currency is of the opinion that the free banking scheme will be revived in the next Congress. Western capitalists who come here to make application for national bank circulation, and who are unable to obtain it, state that the sentiment of the West is strong in favour of unrestricted banking within a specified limit; that the amount with remarkable unanimity seems to have been fixed at an aggregate circulation of 400,000,000 dollars. It is thought probable by those who are informed that a compromise will be effected on the basis of an issue of 25,000,000 dollars additional currency, which is in substance the recommendation of the Comptroller in his last annual report, and of the bill of Representative Monroe, of Ohio, which was introduced last, however, under the existing law of July 12, 1872. The West and the South are entitled to the withdrawal of 25,000,000 dollars in currency from the Eastern States when the 54,000,000 dollars authorised by that Act shall have been issued. All this sum has now been issued, with the exception of about 8,000,000 dollars. This compromise contemplates a repeal of section six of the Act of July 12, 1870, which authorises the withdrawal of 25,000,000 dollars from the Eastern States. In other words, the plan suggested proposes to leave the circulation in the Eastern States undisturbed, and to increase the outstanding amounts of currency by 25,000,000 dollars. It is expected, however, that the East may not be willing to accede to this compromise, and that it will feel itself strong enough both to retain the circulation which it has and secure a repeal of the law authorising the withdrawal of 25,000,000 dollars, and to prevent the issue of an additional 25,000,000 dollars. It is understood that the chief argument against this additional issue will be the statement that the present circulation per capita is altogether too great as compared with the circulation in other countries.

A SCHEME ON FOOT TO ANNEX MEXICO.

New York, August 21.—The Bulletin, referring to a Times editorial on the subject of Mexican annexation, says in speaking of a despatch which the Times quotes: The importance of the despatch is that it affords fresh pretence and argument to a powerful Mexican annexation party. Because it is stated that Germany wants Mexico, or a good slice of it, is no reason that the United States should step in and carry off the prize. There will be powerful and well-organised attempts at Washington next winter to provoke a quarrel with Mexico. The Bulletin admits that there is very little doubt of its being favourably considered. High officials have scarcely tried to conceal their annexation sympathy, so that the opposition against a scheme of Mexican aggrandisement can only proceed from the good sense of the American people and the moderation and discretion of the Government of Mexico.

THE MODOC INDIANS.

Washington, August 19.—A number of letters have been received here from Quakers and other friends of the Indian peace policy throughout the country, asking Executive clemency in behalf of the Modoc Indians lately on trial. Many of the letters raise the question that the trials of the offenders were illegal, under a decree of the Supreme Court in the Milligan case, that civil Courts being near, the military tribunal had no jurisdiction. Another question raised is, that General Canby was killed while acting as Peace Commissioner, and not as an officer of the army, in war. These questions will come directly before the President for his action. The Court for the trial of the Modocs was organised in pursuance of the opinion of the Attorney-General that a military court had jurisdiction in the premises, and the Judge-Advocate-General of the army takes the same view as the Attorney-General, and will approve the findings of the Court, as well as the Secretary of War. The President, however, must approve and order execution of the sentence, and upon him will be brought a pressure to set aside the findings. The friends of the peace policy declare that when all the arguments are presented to the President he will not order the execution of the sentence of death, in view of the doubtful legality of the tribunal before which the trial took place. On the other hand, old army officers declare that the President will be guided by the opinion of the Attorney-General already rendered, and his own sense of justice; that the prisoners were guilty of every violation of the rules of civilized warfare by violating a flag of truce, and therefore subject to trial by military law.—[A recent telegram informed us that three of the Modocs had been hanged.—ED. S. M. H.]

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The Charleston News, commenting on Jefferson Davis's speech at White Sulphur Springs, says:—No one who reads the speeches which ex-President Davis delivers whenever he finds an opportunity will be at a loss to account for his shortcomings during the war. The lack of foresight and chronic indiscretion which prompt such utterances as those of Mr. Davis before the Southern Historical Convention caused the grievous blunders which hastened the fate of the Confederacy. Mr. Davis has learned nothing, and promoted nothing. It has been our habit to think and speak of them with kindness and affection as a thoroughly sincere well-meaning man, whose faults were of the head and not the heart, but we must say plainly his is one of the most troublesome elements we have to deal with in our efforts to bridge the chasm of war and secure reunion and peace. For whatever Mr. Davis says Southern people are held responsible. His rash words are laid at our door. It is useless to deny or explain, the answer is, "Oh, yes, you say what is politic, but Mr. Davis says what you think." This was the case with the Atlanta speech, and it will be the same with the speech just made. The Southern people have honoured Mr. Davis, and the South trusted him, and he owes it to the South to hold his tongue as the best service he can render her people.

WHOLESALE FRAUDS ON THE CUSTOMS.

The report that five hundred mercantile houses have each paid 10,000 dollars, or more, to compromise suits brought against them for alleged frauds on the revenue, is more discreditable to the Government than to the merchants. The compromise of such a suit is presumptively fraudulent. It allows the innocent to rest under the suspicion of guilt, the guilty to escape without the exposure of the enormity of their offence, and the officials to demand bribes with little fear of exposure. Compromise means concealment, whereas trial requires publicity. The law that permits compromises in suits brought for defrauding the revenue should be repealed.

THE TRANSATLANTIC BALLOON VOYAGE.

The hazardous voyage which Professor John Wise, of Philadelphia, is about to undertake under the auspices of the Graphic is exciting a good deal of interest among Eastern people, and particularly among men of science. The Professor is by no means a dreamer. He has had many years' experience at ballooning, and his reasons for believing that his scheme is a feasible one are approved by several eminent American scientists to whom they have been submitted. Professor Henry, of the Smithsonian Institution, while firmly believing in the air-current theory upon which Professor Wise relies for success, strongly advises the bold aeronaut to make an experimental trip from the Pacific to the Atlantic before attempting his Atlantic voyage. To this, however, Professor Wise demurs, preferring to take the chances of being wrecked on the ocean than on the summits of the Sierras or the Rocky Mountains. The London Telegraph treats the whole business as a matter for ridicule, and thinks that the professor had better say a final good-bye to dry land when he has completed his preparations, and makes his embarkation. Professor Wise may not succeed, but those who scoff at his enterprise would do well to bear in mind that there once were some few doubts expressed as to the feasibility of an ocean telegraph. Arctic voyagers, who incur much greater risks and dangers than the best authorities anticipate for the aeronaut, receive warm encouragement on every hand. Why should the cold shoulder be turned to an undertaking the success of which would confer much greater benefits upon the race than have ever the explorations of Hall or Kane, or Franklin? A cordial invitation was extended to General Butler to accompany the Professor on his voyage, but was respectfully declined. It is generally supposed that Benjamin would have accepted had he not in contemplation another balloon trip of even longer duration than this trans-Atlantic one. He proposes to start in September, immediately after the Republicans of Massachusetts hold their State Convention.

A STEAMER BURNED ON THE POTOMAC—FIFTY LIVES LOST.

Fredericksburg, August 8.—The steamer Wawaset, running on the Potomac River, between Washington and Curryman, took fire about noon to-day, at Chatalon Landing, and was destroyed. She had about 150 passengers on board, and between forty and fifty lives are lost. Six bodies were found up to 2 o'clock—three white ladies, one child, and two coloured children. Just before reaching the Chatalon Landing, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, about five miles below Aquia Creek, and after the whistle of the boat had been blown as the signal of her approach to the landing, the steamer at the time being about a third of a mile from the shore, a fire was discovered in the hold, and hose was attached immediately, but before the men could reach it, the conflagration became general, as the fire had been burning some time. It had been smouldering, it is supposed, for some hours, and upon opening the hatches it burst forth with great fury, driving the men from the hold, and completely baffling all efforts to subdue it. In an instant great confusion prevailed on the vessel, the passengers became panic-stricken and frantic with fear, very few having presence of mind to take care of themselves. The steamer was, without a second's delay, headed for shore on the Virginia side, and in a few minutes run aground about 200 yards from the Virginia side. At this time the flames had spread with frightful rapidity, and in the excitement many jumped overboard, and several of them jumped into the water before the steamer struck bottom. She was provided with but two small boats, and in the frenzy of the moment one of these boats was thrown overboard and lost by passengers who, uncontrolled, were endeavouring to launch her. Captain Wood, of the ill-fated steamer, and his assistants are said to have used every effort to control the passengers, but without avail, and but for the disobedience of orders, many who were lost would have been saved. The vessel was well provided with life preservers, but in the panic it seems that none of the passengers secured them; and this fact added to the lamentable loss of life. Over forty passengers were drowned. Up to the time that the Express, in which the narrator of this statement arrived, left the scene of the wreck, but five or six bodies had been recovered, and the confusion was so great that a further list of names of those lost could not be obtained.

The flames spread with such rapidity that the tiller ropes were on fire before the vessel struck ground. All those lost were, it is supposed, drowned, having jumped overboard to escape the flames. The fire was first discovered about twenty minutes before 11 o'clock, and Kenny states that in less than 10 minutes the vessel was enveloped in flames and now lies where she was run aground.

About one-half of the passengers on the Wawset were women and children, many of whom were en route to country places along the Potomac, to spend a short time with their friends. There was also quite a number of coloured people among the passengers. The Wawset was a sidewheel steamer of about 350 tons, and was engaged in running between Washington and landings along the Potomac.

MURDEROUS PROCEEDINGS.

Little Rock, Ark., August 20.—The Board of Supervisors met in Perryville on Monday, and the former clerk of the county, backed by four or five friends, entered the town. They had sworn to and intended to kill J. M. Matthews, attorney of the Court, on account of an article published in the Gazette reflecting upon them. They attacked Matthews in the Court-house, breaking up the Court. Matthews retreated to a store, and fired on his pursuers without effect. A brisk fire was then opened on both sides, during which Matthews was wounded, though he managed to escape to the woods. That evening, friends of Matthews, to the number of about 150, entered the town, killing a man, named Trice Manes. Matthews has warrants issued for the arrest of Hambright, the chief, and all others engaged in the affair, but at latest accounts they had not been served. The affair creates great excitement throughout the county. Full particulars will be laid before the Executive to-night.

UTAH.

Salt Lake, August 21.—A reporter of the Tribune has interviewed the Rev. Mr. Stratton, the well-known Methodist clergyman, as to his alleged connection with the Young divorce case. Stratton states that there is no real foundation to the stories that he had been instrumental in inducing Ann Eliza to leave the Mormon Church, or that the suit was prosecuted at his instigation. He says Mrs. Young often called at his house, described to him her feelings, and asked his advice. She told him her soul was not in the Mormon Church, and that she was merely a nominal wife of President Young, living in a separate house, receiving no share of his attentions, and that she wished to be set free by United States law from the quasi marital relation to her husband. He then declined advising but recommended her to consult some attorneys. He reminded her that she had partial support in her present relation and a comfortable home, both of which she would be deprived of if she renounced her allegiance. He thought it best for her to remain with Young. She was to wait until Congress should legislate for her relief, or providence intervene. Mr. S. said he had nothing to do with the compromise until he understood her case was surrendered by her attorneys. Then at the request of her father and by arrangement with Mr. Clawson, he visited the latter in company with her father and agreed upon the terms. Mr. S. says Ann Eliza is a person of womanly instincts, and he believes her present position exceedingly distasteful to her.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Peru, August 19.—The principal topic of interest from Peru is, that on the 27th ultimo there was a great number of Chinese labourers about Lima and Callao. There was a report when the steamer left Callao, that on the 28th the Peruvian labouring class would make an attack on the Chinese. The Pacific Steam Navigation Company employ them in preference to Peruvians not so much for cheaper work as because they are more steady and docile than Peruvians. The latter are disposed to vent their rage against the Chinese. The Government, fearing that there might be something political at the bottom of the affair, had ordered troops and National Guards to remain under arms and be in readiness for any emergency.

A body of earth, estimated at ten million cubic yards, fell from a mountain side into a valley, severely injuring a number of persons and damming up a river, the water in which has risen 100 feet above the usual height. Engineers were of the opinion that the water would soon burst its barriers, when it would rush toward Lima, sweeping everything before it, and submerging the lower portion of that city.

A disastrous fire has taken place in the city of Valparaiso, causing a loss of 500,000 dollars.

The towns of Heleran, Quillota, Ligna, and Limache in Chile, have been greatly damaged by earthquakes.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

WE have Honolulu dates to 7th August:—

Late Hawaiian papers indicate that if the Cabinet of Lunalilo has not already agreed to present a memorial to the United States praying for a treaty of reciprocity on the basis of the cession of Pearl harbour, such a determination may soon be expected. There has been presented to the King a petition signed by leading men of all the islands, praying him to negotiate such treaty as the only salvation for the people in the face of the impending dangers. The Hawaiian Gazette, the Government official organ, strongly indorses the project, and states that when such treaty shall have been negotiated by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and approved by the King, it will then be submitted to the Legislative Assembly for approval. It may be accepted, therefore, that the United States Senate will have their attention directed to the propriety of sanctioning such treaty in the coming session. It is generally agreed in Honolulu, that except with some such make-weight as the cession of Pearl harbour, there is no chance of Hawaii obtaining a treaty by which Hawaiian sugar will be admitted into the United States free of duty. In considering this question of reciprocity with the cession of Pearl harbour, it may be conceded that such a connection will ultimately result in annexation. It may also be taken for granted that in the matter of reciprocity, the advantages will be greatly on the side of Hawaii. The points to be considered, therefore, are: Do we want a naval station at Pearl harbour? Is it desirable that Hawaii shall be ultimately annexed to the United States or fall into the hands of some other power? In arriving at a conclusion on these points, we shall do well to bear in mind those circumstances which cannot be dissassociated from the whole question. The native population of Hawaii has shrunk in forty years from 130,000 to 49,000, and is disappearing at the rate of 2000 a year. Already foreign influence has the virtual control of affairs, and if the islands do not come under the sway of the United States, they must inevitably fall into the hands of another power. Would such a state of things be desirable or advantageous to the United States? The German residents of the islands have already, it is averred, been intriguing on behalf of their Government. Both China and Japan bid fair to become formidable naval powers in the future. Great Britain may or may not have designs on the islands. But, in the event of any disruption, by which American commerce in the Pacific ocean is threatened would it not be most injurious to us, that these islands should be in the possession of our enemies? Our navies are continually feeling the want of a marine station in the East, and when we have an opportunity of securing one advantageously placed in the middle of the Pacific Ocean, is it policy of the American people to give the offer the cold shoulder? The proposed Reciprocity Treaty with the United States continues to be the leading topic of discussion. Mr. Bishop, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has addressed the following letter to the Editor of the Commercial Advertiser:—H. M. Whitney, Esq.—We are satisfied, from several petitions, and from other sources of information, that the business of the islands is not in a prosperous condition; and we regard it as the duty of the Government to promote the material welfare of the community by all reasonable and just measures. During the last two reigns there were strong efforts made for a Treaty of Reciprocity with the United States, but without success. Regarding the value of such a treaty, there is, we believe, very little difference of opinion, and it is thought that an additional inducement may be wisely made by a cession of the lagoon known as Pearl River to the United States as a naval station. At present it is of little value to us, and we are of opinion that a treaty making the cession as one of its stipulations, may be so guarded in its terms as to protect the rights of all parties, and give strength and prosperity to the kingdom. The United States have always been friendly to Hawaii, and we have no doubt that they will continue to be so. When such a treaty shall have been negotiated by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and approved by the King, it will then be submitted to the Legislative Assembly for their approval. We believe that such a treaty would impart new life to business of all descriptions; that land would be in demand for new agricultural enterprises, and instead of worthy and industrious men leaving the kingdom, more of that class would be attracted here. To advance the prosperity of this kingdom is the purpose and policy of his Majesty's Government, and this measure, if successful, will strongly tend to promote that object; and we confidently believe that when fairly considered, and well understood, it will commend itself favourably to the public judgment.

From the Commercial Advertiser we glean the following:—

Two important decisions of the full Bench of the Supreme Court will be found in to-day's paper. That on the first page establishes the precedent that a debt incurred by a chief before ascending the throne is not outlawed by the statute of limitations, as the creditor's right of action was suspended during the time the debtor was on the throne.

The other decision establishes the point that a person who adopts a child cannot inherit the property of that child to the exclusion of other heirs.

The weather throughout the group during the first seven months of the current year has been very favourable for all our growing crops, and the cane has been harvested with less delay, expense, and loss than in former years. Three-fourths of the crop is probably already ground, which accounts for the unusually large exports of sugar up to this date.

The three shops for the sale of awa in this city have been closed. The holders of awa licenses memorialised the Minister of the Interior, setting forth that when they purchased their licenses the law regulating the sale of awa was a dead letter, and that the strict enforcing of the law would be a virtual ruin of the business; they therefore asked that the money paid by them for licenses be refunded, less the sum of 500 dollars fixed by law. We understand that the Minister failed to see the subject in the light presented, and that the memorial was "returned with thanks."

Jane Loeau, a descendant in the female line of the ancient high chiefs of Kauai, and a reputed granddaughter of Kamehameha I., died suddenly in this city, July 28. She was 45 years of age, and was in childhood an inmate of the Chief's school under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, at the same time with Kamehameha IV. and V. and his present Majesty.

STRIKE OF TRADESMEN AND TERRIBLE ATROCITIES.

THE following particulars of a strike at Alcoy, and the murder and mutilation of several people, is supplied to the London journals:—

Peacefully situated in the heart of the fruitful province of Alicante, so peaceful that the iron horse has not reached it, lies the thriving city of Alcoy, famous in ancient times for the legend that St. George himself there defeated the Moors in 1257, and in modern times for its manufactures of cloth, cotton, and paper. Its population is some 16,000 to 17,000. This peaceful city has just been the scene of events which, although but imperfectly known as yet, have produced terrible consternation in Madrid. Horrors akin to those of the Commune of Paris have been committed there, and all Spain is aghast at the news.

It appears that a Council or Commission of the International of Spain reside in Alcoy, who are in dissidence with the rest of the organisation of that body. They refuse to recognise the accords of the late Congress of the International held in September last year at the Hague, or those of the General Council of New York. After, with more or less success, having provoked strikes amongst the workingmen of Andalusia, Valencia, and Barcelona, the Internationalists resolved to try Alcoy, whose industrial population was earning good wages, and living very comfortably. Their arguments soon took effect. A few days ago three or four French, two Catalan and two Valencian Internationalists arrived in the city, and entered on so active a propaganda that the result was soon seen—first in a partial and then in a general strike. The demand was fifty per cent. extra pay, two hours less labour, and other things—such as an assessment of the value of the companies' rooms, &c., and a repartment of twenty-five per cent. of the said value and profits amongst the workmen. Not content with this, the strikers sent deputies round the city, urging the male and female servants to leave their employs, the bakers to stop kneading bread, and even the barbers to cease shaving. Menaces of most ferocious nature were used in all cases of hesitation or refusal. Great became the alarm in the populace, and with a view to quell it the Alcalde or Mayor, Senor Albors, a Republican of great energy, and very popular in the place, put out the following proclamation:—Alcoyanos,—Your Ayuntamiento have seen that many of the working men of different arts and manufactures in this city have declared themselves on strike, we know not whether in defence of their legitimate rights, which the law must protect, or whether by instigation of secret abettors of disorder. They would be wanting to their duty if, in view of the scenes which have been public and of others which have come to their knowledge, they failed to direct their voice both to the workmen and to the manufacturers and owners of establishments, to say that while they are resolved to sustain and protect all legitimate rights, whether of workmen or of masters, they are at the same time determined to impede all illegitimate aggression and to deliver to the tribunals all who violate the individual rights of any citizen, or who exercise oppression or coercion, or who impede the voluntary labour of those who desire to employ it. The working-man has the right to ask increased pay. The master has equally the right to grant or to refuse it. The violent interruption of these rights by means of menace or otherwise is a delict, and your municipal corporation are determined to respect the one and not to allow the other to be committed with impunity. In the name of the Ayuntamiento, your alcalde, Augustin Albors. Alcoy, July 8, 1873.

Next morning (9th) there was a general meeting of the strikers in the Bull Ring. Violent speeches were made, and the working-men told they were strongest, and had right on their side. They were also told that arms in abundance were ready for them, and a resolve to resort to an armed struggle was carried by acclamation. Groups soon after went through the streets, menacing everybody. Some of these were heard to say, "By Saturday we shall have many heads off, many factories burned, and illuminations in all the balconies!" The rioters, to the number of 8000 or 9000, next required that the Ayuntamiento should resign within three hours. The answer was a refusal on the part of the Alcalde and Councillors, who retired to the Town-hall, together with some twelve to fifteen Civil Guards and a few private friends. The mob attacked the building, which was gallantly defended for some hours; but what could so few do against so many? The doors were at last forced, and an entrance effected. The defenders were seized, stripped, and submitted to all kinds of mutilation. Then they were taken one by one to the balconies, and their names called out singly to the crowd below, with the question "Will you have him alive or dead?" If the mob cried, "Alive!" the unfortunate being was thrown down to them, and received on the tops of bayonets, and quickly riddled through with dagger thrusts or with balls. If the mob said, "Dead!" he was killed first, and then thrown down. The young lieutenant of Civil Guard had his head cut off and exhibited on a lance. One councillor was dipped in petroleum, and then set on fire. Such are the horrible details as yet only received by the mouth of fugitives, who escaped to Alicante and other places. Heaven grant that they may prove exaggerated. We judge by what passed to-day at the Cortes, they must be too true.

The Mint receipts and issues during the past week were:—Gold received for coinage, 10,164 oz. Coin issued, 39,000 sovereigns.

There has been more inquiry for Bank shares during the past week than for any other description of dividend-paying investments. City went from 10¼ to 10½, and receded to-day to £10 8s. 6d. Sales of Joint Stock showed a range of only half-a-crown, and closed firm. Commercial and New South Wales remained firm at the opening quotations. New Zealand sold at 17. Debentures have not been dealt in for several days past. Sales of insurance were very trifling; only a small parcel of United, at 15s., changed hands. Australasian Steam have shown a tendency to advance beyond par, and when a sale has been made at a premium, it has been followed by offers to sell at 20. Gas-light stock very firm. Both issues changed hands at full figures. The course of sales for the past week has been:—Banks: Joint Stock, 13⅞, 13¾, 13⅞; City, 10¼, 10½, 10⅜, £10 8s. 6d; Commercial, 78; New South Wales, 49; New Zealand, 17. Insurance: United, 15s. Steam: Australasian, 19⅞, £20 1s. 6d., £20 4s. Miscellaneous: Gas-light, 16¼, 16½ (old shares), £11 3s. 11½d. (new shares).

Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin report having sold by private contract 15 tons refined tin at £110 per ton.

The prices realised for produce at the public sales held to-day, presented very few changes on those ruling a week ago. The demand for tallow was a trifle better, and prices had a firmer tendency. As the supply of hides was below the average there was fair competition, and prices were not affected by the dulness prevailing in the leather trade. Annexed are particulars of sales:—

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench have sold by auction and private contract during the week:—Residence and two acres of land, known as The Terraces, off the Glenmore Road, for £4450—Mr. R. H. Deane, purchaser; land, Pyrmont-street, Pyrmont, £7 per foot frontage—Mr. J. C. Shaw, purchaser; lot 22, section 3, Milson's, St. Leonards, subdivision, Arthur-street, 25s. per foot—Mrs. Ann Pearce purchaser; and lots 18 and 19, section 3, Arthur-street, 25s. per foot—Mr. W. Floyd, purchaser; land, Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo, £5 per foot. A number of the properties advertised for auction sale to-day were either withdrawn or passed for higher prices than were offered.

In the early part of the week inquiry for trade parcels rendered the import markets a little more brisk than they had been. The demand has since fallen off, and business closes dull. Breadstuffs have been firmer, owing to Californian telegrams advising no further shipments to Australia since the Atalanta cleared. Sales of flour in bakers' lots at previous quotations. In building materials there is not much doing. The only article not in excessive supply is lumber, and of this there is such a scarcity that the placing of the Amelia's cargo will not be felt. The cargo ex Cambridge, a very superior timber known as redwood, will go on to Melbourne, where it sells at a high value. Coffee still commands fancy prices and the market is almost bare of every description. Dundee goods move slowly, small lines of woolpacks selling at 4s. 4½d. to 4s. 6d.; cornsacks, 13s. 3d. to 13s. 6d. There is very little doing in chemicals. All descriptions of soda are a trifle better; crystals have been placed at £10. Dried fruits are unaltered. Fish of prime quality in demand; the small shipment of 1-lb. salmon received to-day from California will sell well. Groceries and oilmen's stores are as dull as ever, and as largely offered at auction. Hops and malt remain at former rates. Liquors are only salable in trade quantities. The speculative inquiry for brandies has ceased, and prices have since receded about 1½d. per gallon. Leading brands of case maintain their value. Bulk and bottled ale has a better sale, and prices tend more in favour of holders. Geneva and other spirits unaltered. The value of rice is still below importers' figures; small lines of dressed table bring late rates. At auction on Tuesday a considerable decline was submitted to in sugars. Constance whites being quitted at £39 10s. and other grades at from 16s. to 20s. decline on previous sales. Next day the market recovered, and the cargo ex Palace sold about 15s. better. Teas are dull; a portion of the William Manson's cargo sold by auction at a slight improvement on previous quittances.—the fine teas were all bought in.

The quarterly statement of Revenue receipts and expenditure for the three months ending September 30 has been deprived of its usual interest by the financial statement made last evening. The Ways and Means laid before Parliament having already given the details for the nine months, the present statement only furnishes particulars which might have been adduced from that document also. The total amount received on account of revenue proper was £774,092 against £730,235, being a net increase of £43,857 on the receipts for the third quarter of 1872. To this result the Customs department gave the largest increase, and it has been general in every item except coffee and hops, which yielded £303 less. Murray River Customs exhibit a decrease of £14,376. Colonial spirits and refined sugar gave an increase of £3713, lands of £18,669; Sheep and Brands Act contributions, £241; postage, £2768; money-orders, £56; fees of office, £500; fines and forfeitures, £273; telegraphs, £977; pilotage, harbour dues, &c., £384; miscellaneous receipts, £559. Gold and Mint receipts come first on the list of decreases, and show a falling-off of £3386. Licenses are nearly £700 less; and rents, exclusive of lands, have decreased £588. The Stamp Office has fallen off to the extent of £3206. Railways show a similar result, with a decrease of £2583, and the abolition of the tonnage dues leaves £1878 less from that source. In other receipts we find that advances amounting to £50,066 were repaid. Trust monies aggregating £267,833 were also paid in during the quarter.

Messrs. Carey, Cohen, and Gilles will sell by auction, on Monday, the plant, &c., of the Globe G. M. Co., and a quantity of wines, spirits, &c.

The vacancy in the board of directors of the Clarence and Richmond S. N. Co. has been filled by the appointment of Mr. T. R. Allt.

The Argus of Monday reports of the Melbourne market:—

In the import markets, business throughout the forenoon was not marked by much of a special character, and transactions, generally confined to supplying trade requirements, have not been of very much account. In breadstuffs, we note a moderate demand for trade purposes, bakers' lots being quitted at £14 15s to £15. Further sales of parcels have come before us at £14 5s. No prime parcels of wheat are yet offering. Medium quality, of which samples lately sold have chiefly consisted, is quoted at 6s 3d. In oats, no fresh business has transpired. Common and discoloured feeding descriptions are valued at 4s 3d, while good are worth 5s, and up to 5s 4d is required for prime bright-looking samples. Maize is a trifle stiffer in value. Sales of ordinary are still making at 4s, and we hear of 4s 1d having been offered for very fine. Sugars are in good request, but buyers have not been anxious to operate to-day, pending the sales coming off on Monday. Candles are very firm, and 11¾d can be readily got now for any parcels coming to hand. Portland cements are in good request. We hear of a very considerable parcel of Knight Bevan and Co.'s having been sold afloat at a very full price, supporting our trade quotation of 22s 6d to 23s for best brands. Patna rice is inquired for, and we hear of parcels being quitted more freely. In liquors we learn of the disposal of a parcel of Jeffrey's ale at up to our quotations of 9s 9d to 11s. Edmond's pig brand of stout is now selling at 15s 6d for trade parcels.

MINING.

FRIDAY EVENING.

TO-DAY'S Share market was a repetition of that of yesterday, except that Shale Oil were a shade better, and sold at 19s. 6d. to par. Sales of gold were, Oxons at 2s. 3d., Williams at 6s. 6d.

The course of sales for the past week has been:—Coal: Wallsend, 13½; Waratah, 13. Shale and Oil, 19s., 19s. 3d., 19s. 6d., 20s. Gold: Beyers and Holtermanns, 7s. 6d., 8s.; Carroll and Beards, 8s.; Dayspring, 3s. 6d.; Krohmanns, 14s., 12s. 9d., 13s.; Oxons, 2s. 3d.; Paxtons, 2s. 6d., 2s. 9d.; Rapp and Co.'s, 2s. 9d.; Rawsthorne, 3s. 6d.; Williams, 6s. 6d. Copper: Mount Perry, 18s. 9d., 18s. 6d., Peak Downs, 15s., 15s. 6d., Peelwood, 12s. 9d.

Beyers and Holtermann's G. M. Co.—The mining manager reports, under date the 16th October, as follows:—"Commenced packing on Monday, 13th instant, and on Tuesday the first lot of stone was put into the battery. As yet, however, we have not cleaned up, so I am unable to state the probable result. The work done since my last report is as follows:—The winze shaft sunk a further depth of 5 feet, making a total of 30 feet; the north shaft is also down 4 feet further—total depth 296 feet—and work is being progressed with in each shaft. The mica vein I spoke of in my last has gone with the hanging-wall, and I am unable to say more about it until we cross-cut. Stone raised this week—No. 2, 1 ton; No. 3, 5 tons. Total quantities—No. 2, 2 tons 15 cwt.; No. 3, 135 tons.

Armstrong G. M. Co.—The following telegram was received from the manager at 12.25 p.m.:—"Cut a 5-inch vein in Armstrong long tunnel; payable stone; first vein of back belt." At 12.37 p.m. received the following:—"Just cut the second vein, 5 inches thick, with a fair show of gold in Armstrong."

COMMERCIAL.

PRODUCE REPORTS.

MORT AND CO.—Wool: The catalogue for this week's sale did not include any very attractive parcels, but so far as the lots offered afford any test quotations remain unaltered, purchasers being anxious to secure wools in time for the London February sales. We sold greasy at from 9½d to 10½d for inferior to medium, and 11d to 12¾d for new wool, well grown and in light condition. The scoured parcels sold realised 19½d to 21½d per lb., one small lot being bought in at 24½d. There is good inquiry for washed fleece, of which very little has hitherto come forward. Sheepskins continue in good supply, and prices are well maintained. We cleared a lengthy catalogue at our sale on Wednesday. Quotations—Short to medium, 5½d to 7d; well grown, 7½d to 9½d per lb. Tallow: This market is without improvement on late rates, the demand for shipment being somewhat languid, and the trade only buying to supply immediate wants. Quotations—Beef, £30 to £31 10s; mutton, £33 to £36; mixed, £28 to £34 per ton. Hides: There was a better disposition to do business to-day, the competition being brisk for any well-conditioned lots, and an advance obtained for medium and light weights. We sold about 900 at the following range of value:—Medium salted, at from 4½d to 5¾d; light, 5½d to 6½d per lb. Horse Hides: The presence in the market of one or two fresh buyers rendered prices a trifle firmer. Those on our catalogue realised 6s to 7s 9d per hide. Leather: During the past week transactions at auction for all descriptions have been very limited, even at the reduced rates previously given. Tanners are commencing to ship on their own account, and this will doubtless tend to relieve the market. We sold harness at 13¼d to 14½d, and sole at 10d. For dressed leather the demand was very slack, and the bulk of that offered was withdrawn. Hair: Horse tail realises from 16½d to 24d; mane and tailed, 15d to 16d per lb. Horns may be quoted at from 20s to 28s per 100, and shankbones at from £10 to £14 per ton.—October 17.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Wool: There were not many important lots of fleece or scoured wools offered, but those that were sold pretty well, while greasy wools met a ready sale at prices quite up to last week's rates. The sales ranged for fleece 17¼d to 2[illegible]; greasy, 8¾d to 12¼d; scoured, 15d to 21¼d. The principal lots sold by us were—fleece, W1G, 15 bales at 20d; 1T, 17 bales (interior), at 17¾d; greasy, JS over [illegible], 8 at 12d; R over SC, 8 at 11¼d; DL over D, 6 at 11¼d; FMD, 7 at 11¾d; BEN, 6 bundles skin wool at 15¾d; and a large number of odd lots up to 9d. Sheepskins: The quality of those offered this week was not so good as last week's, but prices are fully up to last sales, in proportion to quality. Best skins brought 6¼d to 8¾d; pelts and short-woolled, 2d to 5¼d. We cleared a large catalogue at above rates. Tallow: There was a better feeling manifest in the tallow market, and an advance of about 5s per ton was noticeable upon shipping parcels. Trade lots remained about the same as last week. The principal lots sold by us were—Mutton, U, 3 at £36; beef, IM, 8 at £33 10s, 1 at £34; U, 1 at £31; IM, 26 at £31 15s; M, 18 at £31 15s; S in triangle, 10 at £31 15s; HM, 6 at £31 16s; and a large number of odd casks up to £31 10s. Quotations—Best mutton, £35 to £36; beef £31 15s to £33 10s; mixed and station, £28 to £30. Hides: In consequence of a large attendance of buyers, and there being a somewhat smaller quantity than usual offered, prices were a shade better. Quotations—Best heavy, 4¾d to 5¼d; heavy, 5¼d to 5¾d; medium, 5¼d to 5¾d; light and middling, 6¼d to 7¾d. Horsehides in a little better demand at from 6s to 7s 6d. We cleared the whole from catalogue at quotations. Leather: There was a fair demand for shipping parcels of sole, but prices obtained were hardly up to late quotations. The bidding for dressed leathers was very dull, and the greater bulk of that offered was passed for higher figures than those ruling. Quotations—Sole, 10d to 11¼d; kip (best), 20d to 22d; second quality, 17d to 19d; cow tweed, 2s 6d to 3s 6d; horse ditto, 2s 3d to 3s; harness, 12d to 15d. Tin Ore: Another fall having taken place in the English market has a corresponding effect here. High assays can now only be quoted at 18s per unit; lower assays in proportion. We disposed privately yesterday of about 15 tons slab tin at £100 per ton.—October 17.

JOHN FRAZER.—Wool and sheepskins are still in great demand, and full prices were realised for all lots offered. I cleared my catalogue at full rates. As an index to the market I give the following quotations:—Scoured, 19d to 22d; handwashed, 14d to 18d; washed fleece, 15d to 26d; greasy ditto, 9d to 13d; sheepskins full grown and clean, 7d to 9d; ditto medium, 5d to 7d; pelts, 3d to 5d. Tallow is in moderate demand, with a tendency to improvement; prices rule as follows:—Mutton, 33s to 36s; beef, 28s to 32s; station and inferior, 23s to 31s per cwt. Hair, horns, and bones are steady at following figures: Horse-tail and mane, 11d to 24d; cow-tail, 6d to 12d; horns 15d to 25s per 100; and bones, 8s to 14s per cwt. Leather: At Thursday's sales large stocks were offered, but, owing to the dulness in the manufacturing trade, prices again ruled low, and the following quotations show a correct index to the present state of the market. Harness: Light, 14d to 16d; ditto medium and heavy, 12d to 14d; sole, 9¾d to 11¾d; kip, 15d to 23d; calf, 3s to 3s 3d; yearling, 2s to 2s 6d; tweed, 2s to 3s 9d; bag (per side), 15s to 18s; bridle, 14s to 17s; basils, 8s to 14s per dozen; kangaroo, 3s to 4s. Hides: The supplies to hand this week were below the average. The majority of lines submitted to the hammer found buyers at about last week's prices. The depression in the leather trade however has caused the tanners to operate reluctantly. Quotations—Heavy, 4¾d to 5d; medium, 4¾d to 5¼d; light and dry, 5¼d to 6¼d; horse, 5s to 8s each. The wheat and flour market continues about the same as when last reported, prices being rather unsettled.—October 17.

JOHN A. TURNER.—Wool: This market is very firm for all descriptions, with the exception of seedy parcels, which are slightly neglected. The quantities forward are still very small. The following quotations may be given as the present ruling rates, viz., fleece, 18d to 26d; scoured, 17s to 27d; greasy, 9¾d to 17¼d per lb; locks and pieces half price. Sheepskins are scarcely so firm; fellmongers, having stocked their establishments, are less anxious to purchase. Quotations—Scoured, 10¼d to 12d; washed, 9¾d to 10¼d; greasy, 7d to 9¼d; pelts and short, 3d to 5d per lb. Tallow: This article is in demand, but no advance in price can be quoted. Candle tallow inquired for at from 33s to 35s 6d; soap ditto, 29s 6d to 31s 9d per cwt. Hides: Market still very firm, the supply to hand was below the usual average. I cleared every line on my catalogue at very satisfactory prices, viz.:—Several parcels of station at 6d to 7d; firm condition 5¼d to 5¾d; country butchers' 5¼d to 5¾d; Sydney ditto, 4¾d to 5¼d per lb. Calfskins yearlings, and horsehides are salable at a slight decline. Of the latter I sold 506 at up to 7s each. Bear, wallaby, kangaroo, and goat skins, &c., in demand. Horns and bones fair inquiry. Hair easier. Leather: I submitted a very large catalogue of all descriptions. On the whole there was a slight improvement on previous week's sales. The following are the highest prices obtained at my sale, and may be taken as an index to the market—Sole, really prime parcels, 11¼d; kip, 22¾d; calf, 3s 6d; yearling, 26d; pieces, 9¼d; harness, 15d per lb; bag, 17s; bridle, 13s 7d per side; basils, 7s to 12s per dozen.—October 17.

IRWIN AND CO.—Wool: There is nothing new to report on the sales of the day compared with those of last week. Prices throughout were well maintained, and biddings at auction were brisk, and, if taken as an index of the market, it may be looked upon most favourably to the grower. The competition will probably slacken when shipments are closed for February sales. Quotations may be given thus—Scoured, 20d to 26d; handwashed, 16d to 20d; fleece (washed), superior clips, 22d to 25d; ditto (fair), 18d to 21d; ditto (inferior), 16d to 18d; greasy (superior clips), 10d to 12d; ditto (fair), 8¾d to 9d; inferior and seedy, 6d to 7d lb. Sheepskins: Prices are much the same as when last reported, and may be said to keep pace with wool. Quotations—Full-grown 8¾d to 9d, pelts 5¾d to 7d. Tallow: Transactions are almost entirely confined to local manufacturers, who, we may here remark, are only operating to supply immediate requirements; for shipment there is nothing doing. Quotations—Mutton 34s to 36s, beef 31s to 33s, station 25s to 3[illegible] per cwt. Leather: Trade is generally dull, the slackness in bidding at auction being the best criterion of the state of the market; all kinds have suffered a decline in value. Quotations—Kip 21d to 25d, sole 10¾d to 12d, calf 3s 6d to 4s 2d, harness 15d to 16d, bag and strap 14s to 16s.—October 17.

STOCK AND STATION CIRCULARS.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Stations: Two stations in Queensland were sold by auction this week, both realising prices that must be considered highly satisfactory. We would draw special attention to the unstocked country on the Castlereagh River, which we shall offer by auction on Wednesday next, being exceptionally excellent country. Fat Cattle: 678 yarded. Only one lot offered on Monday realising fully 23s per 100 lbs. On Thursday 5 lots were put through the yards, the quality was good, but light-weight prices were quite up to those of Monday. We sold—147 head (Griffiths, Fanning, and Co.'s), £8 10s; 114 mixed (George Hart's), £8 2s; 127 head (E. L. Moore's), £6. Fat Sheep: 6402 yarded. Fewer arrivals have caused prices to rule a shade better, and the meat company, being purchasers at Monday's sales prices were strengthened fully 1s per head. From advices to hand we notice but few lots beyond those in the hands of the trade coming in, so prices are likely to keep up. We sold—1002 wethers (Hunt and Crawford's) to 14s 1d; 40 lambs (John Brown's), 18s 9d to 20s; 26 ditto (G. T. Loder's), 18s to 19s 3d. Store Cattle—There is a continued demand for store cattle, but very few offering, and prices keep fully up to quotations. Quotations—Bullocks, good, south, £5 10s to £6; mixed sexes, ditto, £4 15s to £5 5s; bullocks, good, north, £4 10s to £5; mixed sexes, ditto, £4 15s to £4. Store Sheep—There is a little more inquiry for good store sheep; we have cleared a large number at top prices, which will appear in a future report. Quotations—Wethers, 10s 6d to 11s 6d; maiden ewes, 12s 6d to 15s; breeding, 8s 6d to 9s.—October 17.

BRUNKER AND TREBECK.—Stations: The demand for really good and steadily paying sheep stations continues, but we do not expect to hear of any sales in these until the shearing is over. Cattle stations are also in good request. At our auction sale on the 16th instant we sold the Wallson station, Leichhardt district, Queensland, with 1600, more or less cattle, at £7 13s 3d per head; 1420 acres of purchased land at 20s per acre; horses, stores, drays, and sundries at a valuation. Also the Caamboon station with 2500, more or less, cattle at £3 per head; 320 acres purchased land at 20s per acre; 120 horses, drays, stores, and sundries, &c., at a valuation. Store Cattle: Very few are being offered. We could obtain advanced rates for really well-bred lots. Prime bullocks are worth nearly up to £8 per head if delivered south, proportionate prices on owners' runs in the north. Store Sheep: Some sales have been reported at satisfactory prices for delivery after shearing.—October 17.

SULLIVAN AND SIMPSON.—Stations: The demand for station properties remains firm, and any good sheep or cattle stations would bring very satisfactory prices if owners were really disposed to sell. The saltbush country is most inquired for, and stations not too heavily stocked, would command high rates. Fat Cattle: The number yarded this week was sufficient for requirements, and the quality chiefly prime. Prime and weighty pens commanded brisk competition, and brought high rates. Market still remains firm. We quote best pens of bullocks worth £9 10s to £10; best pens of cows, £7 10s to £8; others in proportion to weight and quality. We have this week sold 287 bullocks, on account of Messrs. G. A. P. Mein, from their Booroma Station, at an average of £8 17s 4d per head. Fat Sheep: This market is fully supplied, and the wholesale buyers being large holders prices are not quite so firm. We quote best wethers in wool worth 15s; ditto ditto, shorn, 11s. We have this week sold 1519 shorn wethers, on account of Mr. James Sevil, at an average of 10s 9d. Store cattle are still very scarce, and very little business doing owing to the short supply. We quote bullocks, 3 to 5 years old, delivered north, worth £4 to £4 15s; and south, same ages, say at Wagga Wagga, £5 to £5 15s. Store Sheep: No large number offering yet, and sales are limited. Our last week's quotations would apply this.—October 17.

G. M. PITT.—Stations: The demand for good cattle and sheep stations is still active, and considerable business is being done. I have concluded sale this week on account of Messrs. Gill and Town, of their Curwilda station and stock, situate in the Maranoa district, Queensland, for a lump sum of £24,000—Messrs. [illegible] and A. Broad, purchasers. Fat Cattle: 655 head yarded for the week's supply, being the smallest number in for some time. Sales opened brisk at an advance of 10s to 15s a head, and this was firmly maintained to the close. A draft of the G in diamond brand made the highest average of the week. I quote best pens worth 23s to 25s per 100 lbs.; extra prime light weights a trifle higher. My sales have been 147 bullocks (C. York's) as above at quotations; 130 mixed (F. Hughes's) at £8 6s 6d. Fat Sheep: There has been a little better demand established this week, caused principally by the Sydney Meat Company coming in as buyers. At present prices for fat cattle and sheep it must pay better to preserve the latter, and they have acted wisely in coming in when sheep were almost unsalable. A few judicious purchases will soon put up the market again, and squatters should show their appreciation of such a desirable change by taking up the balance of the shares. I quote 56 lb. wethers worth 15s 6d in wool; ditto shorn ditto, 10s 6d. My sales have been 2000 wethers (John M'Elhone's) at 15s 6d to 16s, 1297 shorn ditto (Fanning, Griffiths, and Co.'s) at 11s 2d to 11s 8d.—October 17.

BYTHER AND INGLIS.—Fat Cattle: There was an abundantly supplied market this week, but the quality was mostly very good, and last week's rates were firmly maintained. Quotations—Fat bullocks, £8 10s to £9 10s; cows, £6 10s to £8; a very few fine brought still higher prices. Sheep: The supply was scarcer than of late; the quality very good. Best wethers are worth 16s 6d in fleece, 11s 6d shorn. Milch Cows: The market showed a slight improvement this week, though the number coming forward is still fully sufficient to meet the demand. We sold at prices ranging from £3 12s 6d to £8 10s. Calves: Supply still scarce of anything good. Quotations—20s to 30s. Lambs: We sold this week 20 (J. J. Atkinson's), 8s 9d to 17s 6d; 29 (Woodman's), 8s 3d to 11s 9d; 10 (Pearce's), 12s 6d to 14s 9d; first-class lambs always command a high price. Pigs: Supply very much less than usual, and there is a slight improvement in the market now the late glut has been cleared off. Quotations—12s 6d to 40s 6d.—October 17.

GEORGE KISS.—The market generally dull during the past week, with rather a drooping tendency in prices. At the Bazaar, I sold three draught horses at the following prices:—A bay mare, £29; a bay gelding, £26; and a bay gelding, £24 10s, and a number of light horses. At the Camperdown Yards, I sold a mob of 27 broken and unbroken colts and fillies, for Mr. H. King, the light portion from £3 15s to £9; the heavy portion from £10 to £17 5s; and one fine draught horse for £34 10s. As young horses are now beginning to arrive, light and weedy stock will become of less value.—October 16.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

WILLIAM BROWN.—The labour market is moderately well attended by men servants requiring town and suburban situations, but inadequately supplied with farming men, dairy servants, shepherds, gardeners, and country hands generally. There is considerable demand for married and single servants for farms and stations; suitable persons of these classes are readily engaged at remunerative wages. Efficient female servants obtain situations in town and country with facility.

WE are requested to call attention to Bradley, Newton, and Lamb's sale, this day, at their Rooms, Pitt-street, of furniture, glassware, pianofortes, jewellery, &c., commencing at 11 o'clock.—ADV.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London."—ADV.

BEST FOOD FOR INFANTS.—"H. R. H. Prince Albert Victor thrives so well upon it that it must be very good."—T. L. Kendall, Medical Attendant to H. R. H. the Princess of Wales. "This food resembles mother's milk as closely as possible."—Dr. H. Barker on Right Food for Infants. "Highly nourishing and easily digested."—Dr. Hassall. It combines the most valuable FLESH AND BONE FORMING SUBSTANCES, and differs essentially from other farinaceous foods, which being quite useless to afford proper nourishment to a growing infant, frequently lead to a rickety and idiotic condition. Savory and Moore's preparation has also the advantage of being freed from the gritty part of the corn, which produces irritation of the bowels and diarrhœa. No boiling or straining required. Sold in tins. Prepared by Savory and Moore, 143, New Bond-street, London. Procurable of all chemists, storekeepers, and [illegible].—ADV.

THE CHARITIES and the SEWING-MACHINE CONTROVERSY.
Every one must admit that the value and utility of a SEWING-MACHINE are greatly enhanced by the rate of speed it will turn out work from a PRACTICAL TEST.

It has been demonstrated in the clearest manner that one WHEELER and WILSON MACHINE will do nearly as much work as two Singer's. In proof of which, we CHALLENGE Singer's Agent to a PUBLIC TEST, on condition that the agent of the slowest machines agrees to give for DISTRIBUTION among the SYDNEY and MELBOURNE CHARITIES.
LONG and CO., Sole Agents, 287, George-street.
Beware of imitations. None are genuine without the American trade mark.

THE LITTLE WANZER FAMILY LOCKSTITCH SEWING-MACHINE, worked by hand or foot. Prices from £5.
THE PRIZE MACHINE OF THE WORLD.
This Machine has been made with the express view of meeting family requirements, and its eminent adaptability to those requirements accounts for its holding so many GOLD MEDALS and FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, and its being USED IN THE BRITISH PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Purchasers are cautioned against believing every assertion of vendors concerning Sewing-machines or any goods offered to them. THE ONLY RELIABLE TESTIMONY COMES FROM DISINTERESTED PERSONS. This must be apparent to any one who reflects for a minute on the matter.
As a Family Machine, easily understood, and remarkably easy in treadling, no other manufacture has had any chance in PUBLIC COMPETITION with the LITTLE WANZER. If it is not the best Machine, how is it that it holds more recent prizes than all the other Machines put together?

It is a triumph of mechanical genius.
THE "HOME" SHUTTLE

HOME SHUTTLE SEWING MACHINE
a fair trial, in competition with other Machines,

It is acknowledged by the best judges to stand entirely above and beyond any cheap machine ever produced before.
It will sew anything that can be sewed on any high-priced machine in the land, just as nicely and just as rapidly. It will sew from Swiss muslin up to beaver cloth, at the rate of 1200 stitches per minute.

WHEELER and Wilson's Sewing Machines, perfectly new, £6 15s, at 71, South Head Road. Rare bargain.

ASSERTIONS ARE NOT ALWAYS FACTS!
IMPORTANT TO MANUFACTURERS, FAMILIES, STOREKEEPERS, and others.
"It must be admitted that the value and utility of a Sewing-machine is greatly enhanced by the rate of speed it will turn out work," &c.
With one revolution, or rise and fall of the treadle, the
SINGER FAMILY MACHINE makes .. 4½ stitches
Wheeler and Wilson ditto ditto .. 4½ ditto.
SINGER'S MEDIUM MACHINE makes .. 4½ stitches
Ditto No. 2 Manufacturing ditto ditto .. 4 ditto
Wheeler and Wilson No. 6 ditto ditto .. 3½ ditto.
We desire every interested person to test the accuracy of the above figures. The ridiculous "challenge" of W. and W.'s agent requires of us but a moment's notice, as its extreme shallowness must be apparent to the most superficial observer. A mathematical test, as indicated above, is an infallible test.
Intending purchasers, note the following figures:—

In 1871 Singer and Co. sold ..	181,260	machines
" Wheeler and Wilson ..	127,835	"
Balance in favour of the "Singer"	53,425	"
In 1872 Singer and Co. sold ..	219,758	"
" W. and W. ..	174,088	"
Balance in favour of the "Singer"	45,670	"
Thus exceeding in two years only	99,095	"

Importations from the two leading sewing-machine manufactories were as follows:—
Stanford and Co., agents for the Singer Co., 4719 cases, value £24 955.
Long and Co., agents for the W. and W. Co., 1635 cases, value £8,649.
Showing a difference in favour of the Singer machine, 3084 cases, value £16,306.
As we are not of the betting characters, a perusal of the above facts will show the fallacy of the silly challenge of the W. and W.'s agents.
SINGER and CO., Sole Agents, Late Stanford and Co., 1, Hunter-street.
This unrivalled machine is now reduced to terms to meet the demand of all classes of society.

MELBOURNE HORSE MARKET.
TO BREEDERS AND OWNERS.
We beg to announce that we have recommenced the SALE BY AUCTION of HORSES, and trust that our well-known intimate knowledge of the trade acquired during an experience of nearly 25 years, will be a sufficient guarantee to breeders, &c., that their consignments of
UNBROKEN and BROKEN-IN STOCK

In making this announcement we would bring under the notice of breeders that Melbourne has again become a great emporium for the sale of horses of all descriptions—carriage, buggy, draught, and hacks for town use; as well as the demand for India (equal to 5000 annually). Every attention should therefore be paid to breeding, as no class of stock will pay better than horses, now and in the future.

LIVERPOOL PLAINS AND BLIGH DISTRICTS.

EUROKA STATION.

Together with

3500 HEAD CATTLE, more or less.

Estimated Area, 140,000 Acres, about 115,000 acres of which are substantially fenced.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, in conjunction with Powers, Rutherford, and Co., have received instructions from James Holmes, Esq., acting under power of attorney from the proprietors, Messrs. W. W. and E. Brocklehurst, to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, Pitt-street, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 26th November, 1873, at 12 o'clock,

That well-known and justly celebrated station

situated on, and having a frontage of TEN MILES to, the BARWIN RIVER, and comprised of the following blocks, viz. :—

EUROKA   TOLOORA
GUNINGA   SUSSEX
KENT.

It has also the advantage of having abundance of permanent water on the back country, rendering every inch of this truly magnificent station available, and safe in the severest seasons.

The FATTENING QUALITIES of this station are too well known to be referred to here, as it is undeniably one of the best runs in New South Wales.

With the station will be sold

3500 HEAD CATTLE, more or less.

This herd throughout shows the high state of breeding that has been aimed at by the Messrs. Brocklehurst, and includes 100 head pure-bred cattle of the favourite Lee blood. There is also a large draft of fat cattle now ready for market, none having been removed since April last.

The IMPROVEMENTS consist of a comfortable homestead, commodious and substantial drafting-yards, paddocks for the stock horses, paddocks for the pure-bred cattle.

The Fencing is chiefly 2-rail, and wire with cap—all in excellent order.

The RIGHT OF BRAND to the cattle will be given in. Stock horses, stores, and sundries to be taken at a valuation.

The wonderful fattening properties of this station, added to its central position, permanent water, and superiority of the breed of the cattle, should be ample, without further remark, to attract the careful attention of purchasers to this exceptionably advantageous investment, as in view of the increasing scarcity of cattle, and corresponding advance in prices of fat stock, coupled with the very inexpensive working of so compact and safe a property as that now offered for sale, point to this as perhaps the most advantageous purchase that has been permitted to come into the market.

The fullest information will be willingly afforded to intending purchasers upon application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Sydney; POWERS, RUTHERFORD, and Co., MELBOURNE; and B. M'KENNA, Esq., Euroka, Walgett.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEES.

Preliminary Advertisement.

MUNGI BUNGI STATION.

GWYDIR DISTRICT.

Together with about 4500 head of Cattle, the progeny of imported bulls.

G. M. PITT has received instructions from Charles Baldwin, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, early in December, situate in the Gwydir district, and having a large frontage to the Mehi and Big Rivers.

That splendid breeding and fattening station

MUNGI BUNGI,

With the station will be sold a mixed herd of about 4500 head of cattle, which, for breeding and quality, cannot be surpassed.

The character of the OB brand is so well known in this and the neighbouring colonies that any comments as to its excellence would be superfluous. Suffice it to say, that nothing but pure-bred shorthorn bulls have been used for the last 18 years, and especial attention has been paid to the selection and culling of the cows.

The country cannot be excelled for its richness and fattening qualities. Every inch of it is available, and it has large frontages to the Mehi and Big Rivers—a valuable consideration, as the water has never been known to fail.

The improvements are the best on any station in the Gwydir district.

The Auctioneer particularly invites intending purchasers to inspect this truly valuable property, as it is an opportunity of securing a herd that is allowed to be and it is in the market for positive sale.

Further particulars may be had from

G. M. PITT, Greville's Rooms.

IPSWICH, QUEENSLAND.

WEDNESDAY, November 12.

MOST IMPORTANT COAL PROPERTY.

THE BUNDANBA COAL MINE, situated about two (2) miles from the TOWN OF IPSWICH, QUEENSLAND.

HUGHES and CAMERON have received instructions from the proprietors to sell by public auction, at the Ipswich Land Exchange, Nicholas-street, Ipswich, Queensland, on WEDNESDAY, the 12th November,

at 11 o'clock,

ALL THAT SPLENDID COAL PROPERTY known as "THE BUNDANBA COAL MINE," situated near the main Redbank Plains Road, about two (2) miles from the town of Ipswich, Queensland.

This most valuable and important property comprises 280 ACRES OF FREEHOLD LAND, being portions Nos. 270, 286, and 300—all conterminous—parish of Goodna, county of Stanley, Queensland. The mouth of the mine opens in portion 270 above-mentioned, with a N.N.W. aspect, to a straight drive bearing S.S.E. about 5 chains into the heart of the mountain, with a uniform dip of about 2 inches in the yard. The drive is 6 feet high, well stayed, and wooden tramways are laid down the whole of the length. The ground rises abruptly to a height of 150 feet within the distance of a few yards from the mouth of the mine, thus materially adding to its security. There is also a branch level bearing due west at right angles from the main, about 2½ chains in length, following up a

SPLENDID SEAM OF COAL,

6 feet thick; and also another level bearing due east, also at a right angle with the main, and about 5 chains in length, penetrating into portion No. 286, and following up an

with drive the same height and size as main level. The coal is of a capital quality, and whilst the mine was open obtained ready sale, it being about the best sample shipped out of Ipswich. The mine is thoroughly dry and free from water, and in this particular affords a pleasing contrast to many other mines of the same nature. The auctioneers also deem it important to state that are abundant up to the very mouth of the mine, as this would form a most important item in its future working.

The whole of the eastern side of the property is protected by a

SUBSTANTIAL LOG FENCE

and the greater part of the southern side by a

THREE-RAIL SPLIT FENCE.

The whole forms a most splendid property, the value of which it is almost impossible to estimate, as the coal may be traced in every direction upon the land, and the whole of the neighbourhood is known to be coal-bearing, more or less. The present proprietors were singularly fortunate in the quality of the coal discovered, and which the Auctioneers can testify from their own experience gave every satisfaction whilst it was in the market. The only cause for this valuable mine being submitted to public competition is owing to a difference in the partnership, which led to a stoppage of the works just as it begun to yield a handsome remuneration for the large outlay of capital necessarily spent upon the opening of the mine, and they have now agreed to submit it to public auction.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

The mine is in excellent working order, and could be made available for full trade in a week. The auctioneers would also wish to draw the attention of intending purchasers to the most important facts that the Brisbane continuation of the will run about 1½ miles from the mine; that the railway is actually in progress at the present time

ABREAST OF THE PROPERTY,

and there is no doubt will be entirely finished within two years from this date. Had no difference arisen between the partners, it was their intention to have run a tramway from the mine to the

but as the present line of railway intersects the proposed tramway at little less than half the distance, the manifest advantages to the future interests of the mine are palpably evident.

THE ROAD INTO IPSWICH

is first-class, being the main Redbank Plains Road, and a capital High-level Bridge has just been completed over Bundanba Creek, thus removing the last difficulty upon the road into the TOWN OF IPSWICH.

The Titles to the Property are indisputable, being under the

REAL PROPERTY ACT OF 1861,

and render it a

THOROUGHLY SAFE INVESTMENT

to any capitalist, or company of practical men, wishing to invest in this most remunerative description of property; and, as the question of supply in the article of Coal is daily becoming a most momentous one to the nations of Europe, it would be well to regard the present opportunity as a chance which does not often present itself in the Australian markets.

The Terms of Sale will be Cash—10 per cent. on the fall of the hammer and the remainder within one week upon completion of Title.

For any further particulars address to the auctioneers—HUGHES & CAMERON, Ipswich, Queensland.

Day of Sale: WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12th, at 11 o'clock, at the IPSWICH LAND EXCHANGE, Nicholas-street, Ipswich, Queensland.
